NQHS Senior Earns Her Wings

Jessica Liu, 17, Obtains Pilot's License

By SCOTT JACKSON

Jessica Liu, a senior at North Quincy High School, earned her wings this summer, obtaining her private pilot's license during a seven-week training program at a Florida college.

Liu, age 17, was one of 150 Air Force Junior ROTC cadets to receive the Chief of Staff of the Air Force scholarship this year. She and seven other Air Force Junior ROTC cadets took part in the seven-week training course at Embry-Riddle University in Daytona Beach, Florida, one of ten schools where the program is offered.

While in Florida, Liu flew a Cessna 172 each weekday morning and again in the afternoon, plus a Sunday morning flight.

"Throughout the seven weeks, I flew twice a day. My first flight was 5:30 a.m. to 10:30 and then I had class at 11, and right after class at another flight from 1:30 to 4:30," she told the Sun in a recent interview.

"Basically, it was a program to become a pilot, which usually takes two semesters, condensed into seven weeks. It was very hard - a lot of work - but it was worth it, I did that Monday to Friday, Saturday was my day off, and then Sunday I only had a morning flight."

Traffic, Parking Concerns Aired At Community Meeting

By SCOTT JACKSON

Residents voiced their concerns about traffic and parking in the city during a recent community meeting.

About 40 residents attended the Sept. 18 town hall forum at the Wollaston School featuring Christopher Cassani, the director of the city's Traffic, Parking, Alarm and Lighting Department, and city traffic engineer Allison Ruel. Ward 3 Councillor Ian Cain hosted the meeting, the third forum of its kind he has hosted this year.

Cassani has served as the director of TPAL since January 2018 and Ruel was hired as the city's traffic engineer in October of last year. Cain said the department has improved with Cassani and Ruel on board.

"Since Chris Cassani...has taken over we've seen much more responsiveness and much more organization," Cain said. "On top of that we have a traffic engineer, Allison Ruel, who is phenomenal - just absolutely diligent in her work and everything she does for the city."

Cassani said his department is open to feedback from residents about traffic and parking concerns.

"When folks call, we want to give everyone a fair shake," he said. "When folks call with an idea, it's not 'sorry, we're too

First QFD Decontamination Shower Room Completed

By TOM GORMAN

Firefighters face many dangers on the job - suffering burns or smoke inhalation when running in a burning building. But, they also face danger once the flames have been put out: toxin-laden residues that cling to their gear that have increased cancer rates among firefighters in recent years.

Quincy is on the cutting edge of protecting its firefighters, completing the installation of the first decontamination shower room at Station 2 in North Quincy. The city is spending $1 million for shower rooms in each of the eight fire stations.

Quincy Firefighters Local 792 treasurer Tom Bowes said that Mayor Thomas Koch and city officials made it a priority to provide funding for the shower rooms featuring state-of-the-art washer extractors along with regular washers and dryers so firefighters can thoroughly clean their gear - and themselves - after a fire.

"This is an effort of the Koch administration to lower cancer rates within the fire service," Bowes said.

The shower rooms are located on the first floor of the firehouse in the bay area. Firefighters can jump off the trucks when returning from a fire and head straight in to the room.

Planning Board Approves Boston Scientific Sign

By SCOTT JACKSON

The Planning Board recently signed off on Boston Scientific's request to install a new sign atop its distribution center in North Quincy.

The board approved the company's request to install at the sign at 500 Commander Shea Boulevard during its Sept. 11 meeting.

Attorney Matt Snell said the north building on site formerly had a sign painted on its exterior; the Zoning Board of Appeals gave permission to install that sign in 1999. FedEx has since taken over the north building, which it uses as a distribution center.

The new sign will be located on the south building and will face the Neponset River and Boston.

Boyd Morrison, principal at Gamble Design, said the new sign will stand 22 feet high at its tallest point and is 64 feet, 9 inches long. In 2016, the company had proposed installing a 30-foot-tall sign, Morrison said; that proposal was ultimately withdrawn.

The new sign will have letters made of perforated vinyl, allowing it to light up at night; the sign will appear blue during the day and white when it lights up. Morrison said the light would only be visible from the Southeast Expressway and Norfolk Point in Boston.

Quincy Shore Drive resident Eric Salamon spoke against the request during the public hearing. He said he was concerned the new sign would lead to increased light pollution.

"There is enough light pollution coming off this monstrosity already," Salamon said. "We would have this nice soft blue glow coming into our condos...I don't understand how that is acceptable."

The board approved the request in a 4-1 vote, with member John Ryan opposed.

As a condition of the approval, the sign would need to be removed if Boston Scientific were to stop using the site. In addition, installation of a new roof-mounted sign on site would require a new permit from the board.

In other business Sept. 11, the Planning Board:

Continued its deliberations on a proposed 39-unit residential building at 29-31 and 35-39 Newcomb Street to Oct. 9. More than a dozen residents voiced their opposition to the project at the board's Aug. 7 meeting, objecting to the project because of its size and because of the impact it could have on traffic, and the board did not take a vote at that time. The board could not vote on the matter on Sept. 11 because it lacked a quorum of members who were present for prior hearings on the plan.

Continued until Nov. 13 the public hearing on Paul Feldman's request to subdivide the 57,300-square-foot lot at 22 High Street into five lots for single-family homes.

Continued until Nov. 13 the public hearing on Donald Gillespie's proposal to build six residential units at 7 Faxon Park Road.

MAYOR THOMAS KOCH recently presented a commendation to Hui Qui Li for her many years of dedicated community service to her fellow residents of Tobin Towers by helping coordinate tenants' social activities. A lunch was held in Ms. Li's honor in addition to all the volunteers.

Quincy Receives $2,934,840 Grant To Hire FFs

Cong. Stephen F. Lynch announces the City of Quincy has been named the recipient of a Staffing for Adequate Emergency Response Grant.

As part of the fourth round of grants announced this week, Quincy received one of 213 Staffing for Adequate Emergency Response Grants that were awarded to cities and towns nationwide. The grant in the amount of $2,934,840 will allow the Quincy Fire Department to hire 16 new firefighters.

"I am pleased to see the City of Quincy receive a Staffing for Adequate Emergency Response Grant from FEMA," said Rep. Lynch. "Congratulations to Mayor Tom Koch and Fire Chief John Cadegan on securing this federal grant that will help the Quincy Fire Department advance their efforts and expand their team to better serve the fire department and the City of Quincy."

Household Hazardous Waste Drop-Off At DPW Oct. 5

8 A.M. - Noon

The Department of Public Works will host the fall Household Hazardous Waste Drop-off Day on Saturday, Oct. 5 in the rear of the DPW at 55 Sea St. The drop-off event will begin at 8 a.m. and end at noon.

The City of Quincy provides this free service to provide residents with the proper disposal of hazardous waste and to protect the environment. The next hazardous waste drop-off event will be around June of 2020.

Some of the eligible items for disposal are oil based paints, thinners, strippers, oils and varnishes, all household cleaners including drain and plumbing cleaners, automotive fluids including oil and gasoline, chemical fertilizers and insecticides, polishes, ni-cad and lithium batteries, roofing tar, and driveway sealants. For a complete list of materials, both acceptable and unacceptable, visit the Waste and Recycling web page at quincyma.gov.

The DPW accepts mercury containing items such as thermostats, thermometers, fluorescent light and swirly bulbs year round, weather permitting, at the DPW guard shack, Monday through Friday 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and on Saturdays through Dec. 7, from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

When gathering products for the Oct. 5th drop-off event, leave materials in original containers and tighten all caps and lids. Sort and pack items separately in sturdy upright boxes. NEVER MIX CHEMICALS. Pack your car the morning of the event and drive directly to the DPW.

Do not smoke while handling hazardous material and do not bring children in the car with you.

Items not accepted at the hazardous materials drop-off day are tires, ammunition, fireworks and explosives, commercial/industrial/biological waste, prescription medicine, radioactive waste and smoke detectors. For the proper disposal of these materials visit the City's website at quincyma.gov and scroll down to "How can I get rid of..."

Traffic, Parking Concerns Aired

busy,' it is 'let me see.'"

The department, Cassani added, aims to mitigate traffic and parking concerns.

"Traffic and parking can obviously cause a great deal of frustration," he said. "We can't get rid of red lights. We can't make your commute seamless. What we can do is try to look at the root causes of these issues and determine a better path forward."

Ruel outlined several projects the department is working on within Ward 3.

TPAL is working with the Department of Public Works and the MBTA on pedestrian improvements around the Wollaston MBTA station, which re-opened last month.

"The MBTA is still doing a considerable amount of offsite work there," she said.

"They are re-paving Newport Ave - a lot of full-depth pavement work there - and working on the sidewalks. The intersection of Beale and Newport will have all new accessible ramps... and we collaborated with the Department of Public Works to extend that down Beale Street to Hancock Street."

TPAL, Ruel added, is working to create a pedestrian crossing on Beale Street at Old Colony Avenue.

The department is also working on traffic calming designs for Adams Street and South Central Avenue, making improvements to the intersection of Adams and Beale Streets, looking at pedestrian improvements in the vicinity of West Squantum and Arlington Streets, and planning for a new crosswalk at West Squantum Street and John Street near the Montclair School, Ruel said.

The department has also been upgrading its infrastructure citywide, Ruel said.

"We had a lot of older infrastructure that wasn't able to process traffic as efficiently," she said.

TPAL has been upgrading detection systems so staff can view traffic counts in real time; video detection systems have been installed at 30 intersections throughout the city.

New adaptive signal systems have been installed at 25 intersections, primarily in and around Quincy Center, and more could be installed elsewhere in the future. The system is able to adjust signal timing in real time based on demand.

"The adaptive signal changes its timing program based on the demand of vehicle," Ruel explained. "It has that video detection... but also radar detection. It sees right down the street. And, the intersections will be able to communicate with one another."

The department is also installing emergency preemption systems at various intersections, Ruel said; the system allows first responders to better control traffic.

Cassani said the preemption system has been installed, but not yet launched, in the intersections near the Wollaston firehouse on Beale Street. Using the new system, firefighters would be able to clear traffic on Beale Street in front of the firehouse before they leave the station, he explained.

Residents who attended the meeting had the chance to express their concerns about traffic and parking to the city officials present.

Bill Fonte said he was concerned with speeding on Beale Street, as well as a lack of crosswalks on the road. He suggested installing raised crosswalks to stop speeding.

"They are just going way too fast and I don't think there are enough crosswalks on Beale Street," Fonte said. "If there is a way to put in raised crosswalks or something to slow traffic down... I think would be a big improvement."

Denise Murphy said the city should enforce its overnight parking rules. The rules require a permit, which can be obtained for free from the police department, to park overnight on city streets.

"The message is out that there is no overnight parking code in Quincy, but, in fact, if you really take the time to look at the codes, there really is," Murphy said. "We have box trucks, commercial trucks, parked overnight and parked over the weekend."

Cain said traffic and parking have been priorities of his during his time on the City Council.

"I have been pounding on doors since I got into office to talk about these issues - pedestrian master plans, getting more crosswalks on Beale Street. I've been talking about this for four years and I'm serious when I say this is the first time all of this is really getting dutiful attention in an organized and thoughtful fashion," he said. "These changes aren't going to happen overnight, but this is another step in the process."

In addition, the councilor said he would like to see a real residential parking program, which the city would be able to enforce, put in place.

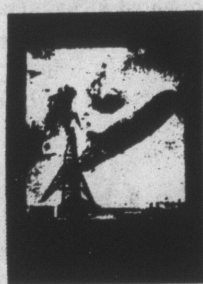

"Let's implement a real residential parking program," Cain said. "I know the plan exists, but we need to change it so the enforcement can come from a department that Chris could build and manage."

Bryan Enos asked about new two-hour parking restrictions that were approved in June for several streets on Wollaston Hill. He asked if those new restrictions are being enforced.

"How are we enforcing it, because clearly nothing has changed?" Enos said.

Cassani said those were submitted to the City Council this spring so they could be approved before the Wollaston MBTA station re-opened. The new restrictions have yet to be posted, because TPAL is waiting to see if they are required.

"What we are trying to do right now is observe what the situation is over there relative to potential MBTA parking, because the ordinance we passed was aggressive. It went all the way down to South Central; it included all those areas where we haven't historically had MBTA parking," Cassani said.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Oct. 9, 1635, religious dissident Roger Williams is banished from the Massachusetts Bay Colony by the General Court of Massachusetts. Williams had spoken out against the right of civil authorities to punish religious dissension.

• On Oct. 13, 1775, the Continental Congress authorizes construction and administration of the first American naval force, the precursor to the United States Navy, which was established April 1798.

Paper Shredding At Waste Drop-Off Day Oct. 5

The City of Quincy Department of Public Works, in partnership with Bay State Shredding Services of Quincy, will provide free paper shredding for Quincy residents at the Household Hazardous Waste Drop-Off Day Saturday, Oct. 5.

Binders, folders, paper clips and staples are acceptable. While there is no charge for this service, participants will be required to provide a MA Driver's License as proof of residency.

Shredded paper is no longer recyclable. In a meeting with recycling facilities across the state, the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection assembled a universal list of recyclable and non-recyclable material accepted across Massachusetts. Another big change this year is that the entire pizza box is now recyclable. No need to rip off and trash the bottom of the box with its grease and oil. Just remove the sheet of paper under the pizza along with any food or crumbs.

The expanded drop-off event will begin at 8 a.m. and end promptly at noon. Residents for the shredding service only can jump the line by entering the DPW parking lot between the U.S. Naval Reserve Building and the DPW.

Bay State Shredding is a locally-owned independent business ensuring that your documents are destroyed securely, and affordably. Residents with household hazardous waste should arrive early as the line often wraps around Sea Street onto Southern Artery.

Scenes From Yesterday

THIS IS A February 1936 postcard reproduction showing the nearly completed $2.4 million Fore River Bridge. Built during the Great Depression, the total cost was paid out of Federal Public Works Administration funds. State engineers designed the bridge and managed its construction by the V. Bartletta Co. of Roslindale. It took nearly two years to build and put to work hundreds of unemployed construction workers. But at the time many people and politicians were opposed to using federal funds for local construction projects, and when completed, opening dedication ceremonies were delayed for almost three months due to bickering between, federal, state, city and town officials. Finally in May, Governor James Michael Curley, escorted by an armed military guard, stood at the center of the drawbridge among several thousand celebrants to dedicate the bridge. In his remarks, Gov. Curley boldly lauded President Franklin Roosevelt and his New Deal, which provided the funds. He added Quincy or Weymouth or Norfolk County never would have built the bridge and so let us "thank God for a man like Franklin Roosevelt." The old bridge shown here won an award in 1936 as the most magnificent bridge built in America that year. The bascule bridge was demolished in the early 2000s after it was deemed structural deficient and unsafe. In 2018, after six years of construction, a new $272 million bridge opened connecting Weymouth and Quincy. This vertical lift bridge has an increased vertical clearance of 60' in the closed position and over 220' in the open position.

Major Delay Averted In MBTA Extension

(Editor's Note: The stories for this column were gleaned from the first edition of The Quincy Sun. The first issue of The Quincy Sun - dated Thursday, Sept. 26, 1968 - was circulated 51 years ago this week)

A threatened potential year and a half delay in the MBTA extension to Quincy has been averted and 22 North Quincy homes spared from demolition.

Mayor James R. McIntyre disclosed that the planned North Quincy transit station will be relocated 350 feet, preventing an ominous "long term" construction snag and the taking of the homes.

But, despite the development, the mayor does not expect trains to be running to Quincy until early 1970, mainly because of a construction slow-down caused by the ironworkers' strike. MBTA General Manager Leo Cusik had predicted the Quincy line would be in operation by Christmas 1969.

PEAK ENROLLMENT AT JUNIOR COLLEGE

Quincy Junior College has reached another milestone in its 10-year history with a fall total record enrollment of 1,687 students.

The figure announced by President Kenneth P. White is 122 students higher than last year's.

The growth the school has undergone in just a decade is shown by the comparison of this figure with the first enrollment in September 1958. Total students that opening year - 35!

The college, keeping pace with its growth, now has three deans assisting White. They are Hugo Saluti, Joseph J. Fluhr and Richard Mula.

CITY COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS INCINERATOR PLAN SATURDAY

The City Council's special committee on dumping and refuse problems planned to meet Saturday at 10 a.m. to discuss a proposal for an estimated $2 million incinerator.

The committee will explore various methods of rubbish disposal including compaction before making a final recommendation on which is best for Quincy.

"Our quarries are rapidly being filled," noted Commissioner Chairman Councillor at-Large George B. McDonald. "We are fast approaching a crucial stage in which a long-range refuse disposal system must be agreed upon and thoroughly planned. We can't fool around any long."

Another Storage Facility Does Not Benefit Residents

Re: proposal for storage facility near Home Depot (South Quincy): I feel the use of open space near public transportation and highways for a storage facility is not beneficial for city residents.

We already have at least three storage facilities in this city. A storage facility implies a population in transit plus we have a proliferation of rental units. I feel we are losing our neighborhoods where families settle, raise children and contribute to the city as well as stay attuned to the political decisions that impact quality of life in the city forever.

In previous administrations people have asked for more retail and entertainment options. This is an area that can be used for some of that while diverting traffic from neighborhoods and the downtown. It's also a good location for a cultural center, rather than Hancock Street.

My current life consists of the following: Movies, I go to Hingham, Braintree or Randolph. Clothes shopping I go to two or three places in Quincy, Derby Shops or South Shore Plaza, to see a play I go to Boston, for food specialty items I go to Trader Joe's.

I am also finding that our supermarkets except for perhaps Stop and Shop Newport Avenue, need updating with lots of wasted space at the Star Market lot.

Where is the vision improving quality of life for residents?

Asks Local Leaders To Support Movie Theater

The Sept. 12, 2019 issue of The Quincy Sun contained an article regarding the lack of definitive plans for the site of the now-closed Big Y supermarket on Hancock Street and the Lowe's store on Burgin Parkway.

I recall seeing a letter in the Readers Forum of The Quincy Sun some months ago in which the writer suggested that the Lowe's building/site would be quite suitable to locate a movie theater. At the time, I thought such a proposal was a good idea and I still do. The location is certainly a convenient one and parking would not be a problem.

Quincy used to have at least four or five movie theaters at a time when the population was less than it is today. It would indeed be very nice if the city could offer its new (as well as current) residents a local movie theater. I would ask that the Mayor and City Council give this suggestion serious consideration.

Beechwood Knoll Fall Festival Oct. 19

Beechwood Knoll Elementary School will host the 22nd annual "Beechwood Knoll Fall Festival" on Saturday, Oct. 19th from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Beechwood Knoll School, 225 Fenno St., Quincy.

All are welcome. Rain date is Saturday, Oct. 26.

The BKS Fall Festival is the school's cornerstone fundraiser to raise funds to pay for books for our classrooms and library, computer equipment, educational materials, field trips and other classroom necessities.

There will be Busy Bee, food, arts and crafts, games, nails, tattoos and face painting, silent auctions, raffles, pony rides and Touch-a-Truck.

Orchard Beach Stroll Saturday

The Park Department invites the public to a free stroll on Orchard Beach Saturday, Sept. 28 at 5 p.m. with coastal citizen scientist Peter Fifield.

The tour will take place at low tide and will traverse sand spits and mud flats to explore marine life, mysterious pilings and beautiful views. Oyster catchers and great blue herons are common. Bring binoculars if you have them and bug spray.

Participants will be walking in water that is a few inches deep and can be muddy. Old sneakers or rubber boots work great.

Meet at the intersection of Bayside Road and Orchard Street in Squantum. For more information and rain date rescheduling, call 617-472-0799.

9th Annual Quincy Candlelight Vigil Oct. 2 At H-A Common

Mayor Thomas Koch and the Office of Substance Use Prevention Services will host the ninth annual candlelight vigil Wednesday, Oct. 2 in memory of all those throughout the Quincy community and surrounding area who have lost their battle to substance use disorder.

The event will take place on the Hancock-Adams Common, in front of the James R. McIntyre Government Center (old City Hall) at 7 p.m. In the event of rain the vigil will be held at Quincy High School.

The evening will include readings, music and reflections for all those lost to substance use disorder, hope for those still struggling, and continued strength for everyone in recovery. If you would like a photo of your loved one displayed during the vigil submit one along with their name and a word or adjective that best described them to Laura Martin at lmartin@quincyma.gov by Sept. 27th. Names may also be submitted on the evening of the event beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Quincy ArtsFest Saturday, Sunday At Merrymount Park

Schedule Of Events
On Page 26

Social

The 22nd annual Quincy ArtsFest will take place in Merrymount Park on Saturday, Sept. 28th and Sunday, Sept. 29th.

The free event is cosponsored by the City of Quincy, the Quincy Art Association, and Quincy Access Television. The Janet Burke Mann Foundation for the Arts also contributes to the event.

This year's event will take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday (Sept. 28) and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday (Sept. 29). It will feature artwork, photography, children's artwork, live entertainment, children's activities, a hay ride, pony rides, moon-bounces and more.

The highlight of the live entertainment lineup will be a concert from the Quincy Symphony Orchestra at 1 p.m. on Saturday followed by a performance by Boston's Irish Band, Devri. Concessions will be sold throughout the weekend and guests can bring their own chairs and blankets to enjoy the sounds of the afternoon.

"Quincy ArtsFest is a tremendous showcase of the talents of our fellow residents and artists from throughout the South Shore," Mayor Thomas Koch said. "Each and every year I have been impressed with the quality of work that this show attracts. I encourage people of all ages and interests to come down to Merrymount Park and enjoy a wide variety of cultural entertainment in such a beautiful park setting."

graphs, mixed media, children's art and more. This is a Juried Show and will draw some of the finest artists in the area. There is also a "Best of Quincy" category that encourages artists to capture the beauty of Quincy's parks, open spaces, and historic locations.

In addition to the art on display, guests can enjoy a hay ride through the park, pony rides for children, children's inflatable attractions, live art demonstrations, live music, and all at no cost.

Added Mayor Koch, "The goal is to provide a free, cultural event for our residents in a gorgeous park setting. We want as many people as possible to witness the talents of our local artists. Quincy ArtsFest provides something for everyone and I encourage people to check out this great event."

Lions Club Pancake Breakfast Oct. 27

The Quincy Lions Club will host its annual Pancake Breakfast Sunday, Oct. 27 from 8 a.m. to noon at the Dining Hall located at 1000 Southern Artery.

Tickets are just $5 for adults (children 12 and under are free) and can be purchased at the door or online at www.quincylionsclub.com. The event is open to the public and costumes are encouraged.

"Funds raised at the Pancake Breakfast will allow Lions to help meet needs in our community including providing vision exams and eyeglasses to those in need," said Quincy Lions Club President Doreen Smith. "Lions members thank everyone who contributes to this important work. This event allows the Quincy Lions Club to continue to serve our community; and provides an opportunity for all involved- from Quincy Lions, volunteers, neighbors and families to connect, communicate, and enjoy a breakfast together."

Smith added: "We are especially grateful to our sponsors, without them we would not be able to carry on this event." Current sponsors include Keohane Funeral Home, Interfaith Social Services, NorthEast Community Bank, Quincy Memorials, Inc and Stop & Shop.

If you are interested in becoming a sponsor, visit www.quincylionsclub.com or email the club at quincylionsclub.com.

VHS Transportation Gala Sponsor

Road To Responsibility, a non-profit organization, announces VHS Transportation is supporting RTR's annual Making Lives Better Gala with a gift of $15,000.

This year's gala will be held at Granite Links Golf Club in Quincy on Friday, Sept. 27, at 6 p.m. The gala will feature a cocktail reception, raffle prizes, silent auction, an elegant dinner and live music.

VHS Transportation, headquartered in South Easton, provides transportation services to a wide range of individuals with special needs. They contract with many regional transit authorities, human service agencies (including RTR), and municipalities to provide an important link between the individuals and their respective schools, day programs, supported employment sites, and other social service programs.

In addition to supporting the Making Lives Better gala at the Leadership Sponsor level for the second consecutive year, VHS Transportation recently helped Road To Responsibility add its 49th residence to their housing program. VHS Transportation built the residence, and RTR is leasing it from them.)

"VHS Transportation is such a valuable partner of Road To Responsibility," said Christopher White, Ed.D., CEO of Road To Responsibility, Inc. "We are so grateful for their continued commitment to RTR, and appreciate all they've done to ensure the success of our upcoming gala, and the success of our organization as a whole."

For more information about the gala visit roadresponsibility.org/events, or contact Director of Development Serenity Belo at 781-536-4509 or sbelo@rtrinc.org.

MAYOR THOMAS KOCH recently presented two-time Pulitzer Prize winning author, historian and 2006 Presidential Medal of Freedom recipient David McCullough with a framed remembrance and collection of photos commemorating the dedication of the Hancock Adams Common which took place Sept. 8, 2018. Mr. McCullough was a keynote speaker during the event. His remarks highlighted John Adams contribution to the City of Quincy and the nation.

'Save Me the Plums' By Ruth Reichl The Fine Print Book Review

By BETH VACCA

I'm a book lover. Obviously. I do not read magazines. Ever. They give me a headache. Maybe because of the overload of stimulation on a single page. Perhaps the smell of the free samples of perfume. Most definitely due to the constant eye jumping (continued on page ...).

So my reaction to my book group's pick of "Save Me the Plums" a memoir (not a favorite genre of mine) by Ruth Reichl editor-in-chief of Gourmet magazine? Sigh.

My reaction after having read the first chapter? Read half the book in one sitting. I loved this book.

Reichl is a talented writer and storyteller. She is engaging, raw and vulnerable.

A major contributor to why I dislike memoirs in general is the name dropping that tends to occur. This book is evidence that a memoir can be full of well-known people without becoming a treatise on "look who I know". Every person mentioned is integral to the life Reichl is sharing. A piece of the entire story and not just interesting excerpts meant to boost an ego or sell a book.

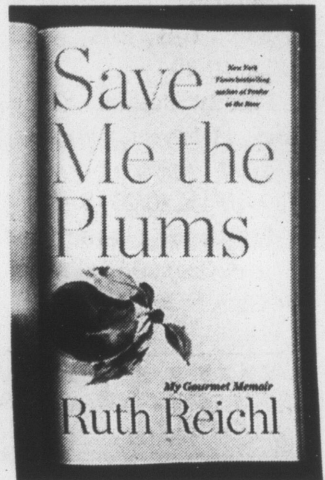

Reichl recounts for us her first encounter with Gourmet magazine as a young girl. How she was inspired by a piece on Maine and its lobsters. How she fell in love with everything food. How she was influenced by the ethnically diverse neighborhoods in New York where she was raised. How her mom was happy she had found a "hobby." Not a career.

Reichl, after receiving her undergraduate degree in nothing relating to food, became a food writer. As a successful food critic in New York City she was approached by the management at Conde Nast. She assumed it was to become the food critic for Gourmet magazine. She had not read the magazine for years. She considered the magazine a bit stuffy. She was blindsided by the offer she received.

I was inspired by the risks Reichl took in her career. Her willingness to push the envelope. To not just fall in line with acceptable practices.

In examining her role models before taking on the job and meditating on what type of leader she would strive to be I was pushed to consider what successful leadership looks like. She considers her strengths, her weaknesses and what type of work environment she would like to promote. In the end, without any spoils, we realize it is about the people. Relationships.

No career is perfect. People make mistakes. Not all decisions are good decisions. Juggling work and family is hard. We can always look back on life and wish we had done something differently. A memoir that doesn't include reflection on these issues would be tantamount to a facebook post. This memoir does not disappoint.

Reichl shares her heart in such a way I felt like we were on a first name basis. Ruth, would you like to meet me out for dinner? Don't forget to read The Fine Print.

Branch Storytimes
Adams Shore: Toddler Storytime (2-3 years) Tuesdays @ 10 a.m. 10/1, 10/8, 10/15, 10/22, 10/29
Wollaston: Story Lab Ages 6-8 Wednesdays @ 3 p.m. 10/2, 10/9, 10/16, 10/23, 10/30

This new program combines science and stories for a new type of storytime. Join us after school for one hour of stories and science. Children will hear stories involving science topics, then explore those topics through activities and experiments. This program will alternate sessions with Explorers Club.

Preschool Discovery @ Wollaston
 Drop by the Wollaston Library with your preschooler any time between 10 and 11 a.m. on Thursday, Oct. 3rd to do some fun simple science together. Activities, experiments and instructions will be provided for science you can do with your child.

 Come in and learn about animals! Look at paw prints, sort some animals and find out what keeps animals warm in cold water!

Music and Movement with Rubi

On Saturday, Oct. 5th at 10 and 10:30 a.m. sing and dance with Rubi Lichauco! Rubi brings her popular preschool program to Quincy so put on your favorite dancing shoes and join us for this lively mix of music and movement for children ages 0-4 accompanied by an adult.

This program is presented as 2 half hour sessions to ensure that there is space for everyone to dance and move around.

Book Clubs for Kids
 Do you like to read? Would you like to talk to others about books? Then you will like our book discussion groups. Join us each month to discuss all kinds of books

The Night Owls Book

Club for children in grades 3 and 4 meets at 7 p.m. on the 2nd Thursday of each month.

On Oct. 10th we will be discussing Bowling Alley Bandit: The Adventures of Arnie the Doughnut by Laurie Keller.

As Mr. Bing's new pet "doughnut dog," Arnie couldn't be happier. When Mr. Bing joins a bowling league, Arnie gets to go along to practices and competitions. But then Mr. Bing starts rolling gutter balls. Someone or something is behind the madness. Arnie, together with his team of goofball friends, must sort through the shenanigans and solve the mystery.

The Phoenix Book Club for children in grades 5-8 meets at 7 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month to discuss a variety of books.

On Tuesday, Oct. 8th our topic will be family. This month we're reading books about families of all kinds. Family is a theme you can find in any kind of book, from fantasy to adventure, historical fiction to realistic fiction, sci-fi to mystery.

What makes a family? Who is the family in the story? Who isn't there? Pick a book about brothers and sisters, foster families, parents and children, grandparents, step-families, or any other type of family you can think of, then come talk about it with us!

Too busy to join us this month? Stop by the library anytime to find out what we'll be reading next month and join us then.

Saturday Storytime
 Join children's librarian Cathy deVeer at the Main Library on Saturday, Oct. 12th at 10 a.m. for a Fall Storytime full of stories, songs and more about Fall and pumpkins.

This program is for children ages 2-5 accompanied by an adult. No registration required.

Pumpkin Decorating
 Drop in on Saturday,

Oct., 19th from 10 a.m. to noon.

Are you ready for Halloween? Have you ever decorated a pumpkin or made a Jack-O-Lantern before? Bring your own pumpkin and join us for a morning of Halloween music and pumpkin decorating! We ask that pumpkins be no larger than about head size.

You bring the pumpkin and your creative vision, and we'll supply the craft materials. Take your pumpkin home with you or leave your pumpkin at the library on display for all to see by entering our Pumpkin Decorating Contest. All awards announced on Oct. 25th!

Great Pumpkin Character Contest

Participate in the Great Pumpkin Character Contest! At home, decorate a small pumpkin as your favorite book character and bring the decorated pumpkin to the Main Library Children's Room for display. Please no pierced or cut pumpkins, they spoil too quickly.

Pumpkins may be dropped off at the main library children's room from Tuesday, Oct. 15th to Monday, Oct. 21st. Each pumpkin will be awarded a special ribbon. Will your pumpkin be the Shiniest, the Scariest, the Cutest or...something else. Pick up your pumpkin between Monday, Oct. 28th and Thursday, Oct. 31st to see what award your pumpkin has won.

For more details, ask a librarian or check our website.

Dungeons and Dragons Encounters

New and experienced players ages 10 to 15 are invited to join us on Tuesday, Oct. 15th at 7 p.m. in the Main Library Children's Room for this introduction to D&D 5th edition game play. Take on the role of a fantasy hero in this monthly Dungeons and Dragons game.

We will help you customize an Adventurer's League

D&D character you can use both in our monthly adventures and at other D&D Organized Play. If this is your first time joining the group please arrive early, about 6:45 p.m., to create your character so we'll be ready to play when everyone else arrives.

Your group of adventurers will start out at level one and take on the module from the 5th Edition D&D Starter Set. Unravel the mysteries of the Lost Mine of Phandelver and what monsters and treasures lie within!

Preschool Discovery @ Adams Shore

Drop by the Adams Shore Library with your preschooler, ages 3-5, any time between 3 and 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 16th to do some fun simple science together. Activities, experiments and instructions will be provided for science you can do with your child.

Come in and learn about animals! Look at paw prints, sort some animals and find out what keeps animals warm in cold water!

Science Saturday - Air and Flight

Join us on Saturday, Oct. 26th at 10 a.m. for Science of Air and Flight

This month we'll be exploring air and flight with paper airplanes, paper helicopters, wind tunnels and more! Test out how far, how high, how fast you can make your plane go! Can you make it do tricks like loops and rolls? Can you make a ball float or race from one end of the room to the other?

Parents this is an open ended exploration program. Work with your child to explore these basic scientific principles by posing questions and trying out different things to answer those questions.

This program is suggested for families with children ages 3 and older.

All programs sponsored and supported by the Friends of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

Audrey's Stuffed Artichokes

By MARIE

Recently, while having my hair done, the hair dresser, Audrey, was talking to me about what she cooked for dinner over the weekend. She made stuffed artichokes which is her families' favorite!

Artichokes can be stuffed many ways but hers was a very simple one and she said that it got rave reviews from everyone at the table.

When preparing artichokes, remember that artichokes can be par-boiled first, and when cooled cut rough edges off each leaf and cut the tops off of the leaves too. Cut stems off artichoke so they sit in a roasting pan.

Pre-heat oven to 350 degrees; prepare the bottom of a roasting pan covering the bottom with water and a little olive oil so each artichoke will sit evenly in the casserole dish.

INGREDIENTS:

- 6 fresh artichokes
- 3 cups of seasoned bread crumbs (Audrey used Progresso)
- 1 cup of grated Romano cheese
- 3 cloves of garlic, diced or garlic powder to taste
- Salt and pepper to taste

Mix all ingredients in a bowl adding enough extra virgin olive oil to the mixture until all of the ingredients are moist.

Stuff the artichokes, making sure to stuff between the leaves and in the center of the artichoke. Cover and bake in a 350 degree oven for about 35 minutes or until artichokes are tender.

These can be served as a dinner with a salad, or a side dish with any favorite meal. P.S. When serving artichokes it is always good to have a small dish nearby to put the leaves in after eating.

Vegetarian Pasta Bolognese

By SUSIE

You won't miss the meat in this vegetarian "Pasta Bolognese" recipe. A mingling of rich flavors and textures make this dish a winner to vegetarians and meat lovers alike. Serve with an Italian style salad and you have a dinner worth bragging about.

VEGETARIAN PASTA BOLOGNESE

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 small onion, 1 stalk celery, one carrot, all chopped
- 1 cup baby bella mushrooms, chopped fine
- 4-5 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 1/2 cups organic veggie broth
- 1 cup organic red wine
- 1 large can whole tomatoes with puree, and 1 15 ounce can chopped toma-

- atoes with juice
- 1 cup lentils washed
- 2 teaspoons dried basil, 1/2 tsp oregano, 1/2 teaspoon marjoram
- Sea salt and pepper to taste
- Fresh parsley
- Cooked pasta

Heat the oil in a large pot and add the veggies and herbs and saute until soft. Pour in the broth and simmer until most of it has cooked down.

Next add the wine and simmer that until the wine has cooked down a bit as well.

Now add the tomatoes and lentils and simmer uncovered for about 30 minutes until lentils are soft.

Taste and adjust seasonings.

Toss with pasta and sprinkle with fresh parsley and grated cheese.

Heartburn Drugs Might Trigger Allergy Troubles

A Message From Ruth Jones, City Of Quincy Health Commissioner

By RUTH JONES
MSPH, BSN, RN,
BC, CP-FS

There is an abundance of drugs on the market today to treat digestive issues caused by heartburn or gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD) or stomach ulcers. But experts say that solving one health problem may be instigating another.

New research from Austria discovered that people who utilize medications that suppress stomach acid were almost twice as likely to need medications to control allergy symptoms. In addition, those over age 60 who used these drugs were more than five times as likely to also need an allergy medication.

The study included prescription information from 97% of people in Austria. The data covered four years, from 2009 to 2013. The researchers noted that as few as six daily doses of anti-acid medication each year were linked to an increased need for allergy medication.

The risk of needing allergy medication increased with more frequent use of acid-reducing drugs. Women and older people taking acid-reducing drugs were more likely to need allergy drugs. Researchers from the Medical University of Vienna found that the lengthier the treatment with these medicines, the higher the risk of allergies.

So just what is the connection between these two conditions?

Researchers point out that normally, the acidic environment in the stomach assists in breaking down food-derived proteins that can trigger allergies. However, if you are taking acid-suppressing drugs, the food you eat isn't broken down into small enough pieces, sending intact allergens into the intestine, where they can trigger an allergic reaction and inflammation.

Scientists note that the implications from this study could be widespread. According to the American College of Gastroenterology (ACG), more than 60 million Americans have had heartburn at least once in the past month.

Heartburn, or gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD), transpires when stomach acid backs up into the esophagus, the tube connecting your throat and stomach. Symptoms can include a feeling of burning behind the breastbone that can move up to the neck. Some who suffer from this also notice the bitter taste of bile in the back of the throat.

To treat the discomfort and pain associated with this disorder, people often take acid-reducing medications. These include popular medications referred to as proton pump inhibitors (PPIs). Medications in this class include prescription and over-the-counter drugs like Prilosec (omeprazole), Prevacid (lansoprazole) and Nexium (esomeprazole). Another class of medications is called H2 blockers. This class includes Tagamet HB (cimetidine), Pepcid (famotidine) and Zantac (ranitidine). There is also a medication called Carafate (sucralfate) that's an aluminum compound.

In the study, all of these medications were linked to an increased use of allergy medications. However, there was a greater prevalence of allergy medication use after a sucralfate prescription, according to the research.

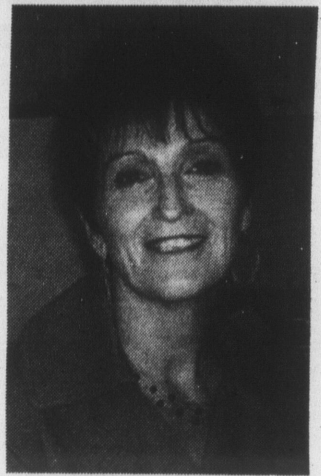

Researchers hope doctors will take note of the study findings and prescribe acid-suppressing medications with caution. They also want to increase awareness of consumers buying over-the-counter anti-acids to keep in mind that these are medications and any medication can have side effects.

For those concerned about allergies, but who may still require acid-reducing drugs, scientists recommended taking these medications for the shortest time possible.

Dr. Elie Abemayor, chair of the division of gastroenterology at Northern Westchester Hospital in Mount Kisco, N.Y., reviewed the findings, and said it's always crucial to weigh the benefits of a drug against the risk. Though the findings were concerning, Abemayor stated it is important to recognize that this study is observational, and fails to prove a cause-and-effect relationship. He recommends to continue taking these medications if prescribed, but reminds consumers that if it is not necessary for you to take them for an extensive period of time, it is probably best to take only as needed.

Arts Council Applications For Cultural Grants

Quincy Arts Council is now accepting applications for Massachusetts Cultural Council 2020 Local Cultural Council (LCC) grants.

The LCC grants are the primary means by which the state funds cultural activities in local communities. Organizations, individuals, and schools engaged in providing programs in the arts, humanities, and interpretive sciences in Quincy may apply.

The deadline for applying is Tuesday, Oct. 15.

All applications are completed and submitted online. Paper applications are not accepted.

Applicants should review Massachusetts Cultural Guidelines and Quincy Arts Council Priorities before filling out the application. All materials, including the application, can be accessed and the application submitted at www.mass-culture.org.

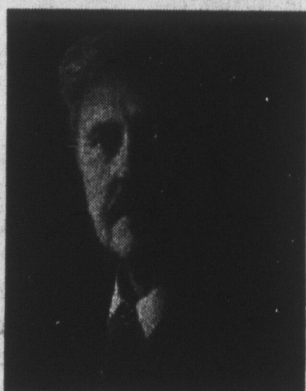

For persons needing internet access, the Thomas Crane Public Library and its branch libraries, along with many other Massachusetts public libraries, have computers with internet access that are available to the public.

Quincy Arts Council will hold a Public Information and Input Meeting, Wednesday, Oct. 2, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy. This will be an opportunity to learn, ask questions, discuss the application process, and offer reactions and recommendations about the Council's mission and grant-making process.

Persons with questions may also call Quincy Historical Society at 617-773-1144 or email quincycouncil@gmail.com.

ISS Seeks Halloween Costumes For Local Children In Need

Interfaith Social Services is seeking donations of new Halloween costumes for their annual Halloween Costume Drive. Each October, the organization distributes hundreds of costumes to the children served through their food pantry.

Interfaith is a multiservice agency that has been serving families and individuals on the South Shore for more than 70 years. Their programs include one of the largest food pantries in greater Boston, a mental health counseling center and homelessness prevention services. Interfaith also runs seasonal initiatives such as Bunny Baskets, a Backpack Drive and Help for the Holidays holiday gift program to bring a bit of joy to the children of their clients.

During the annual Halloween Costume Drive, generous individuals and businesses donate hundreds of new Halloween costumes, which are then sorted by volunteers. In mid-October, client families are invited to "shop" and select a costume for each child in their family age 12 and under.

"Our clients' children just love this event each year," said Interfaith's executive director Rick Doane. "The kids want to be able to choose their own costume so that they can join in activities like trick-or-treating with their friends. And their parents are just so incredibly grateful for all of our seasonal programs."

Donations of new costumes and accessories can be dropped off at Interfaith Social Services, 105 Adams St., Quincy, during business

Social Security Matters

Ask Rusty: Will My Husband's Income Affect My Benefits?

By RUSSELL GLOOR

AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor
Association Of Mature American Citizens

Dear Rusty: Since it looks like a good option for me to retire at 62 and my husband (who is younger than me) to retire at 67, will the income he makes after I retire affect my benefit amount by way of income taxes if we continue to file jointly? Also, how would receiving an inheritance affect my benefit amount if I file at 62? Signed: Worried Spouse

Dear Worried: Your husband's income won't directly affect your monthly Social Security benefit payments at all, but it may affect the tax liability on your Social Security benefits. Only earnings from you working will affect your monthly Social Security benefits, but whether the benefits you receive become taxable income to the IRS depends upon the level of your "combined income" for your IRS filing status. "Combined income" is your Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) as reported to the IRS, plus any non-taxable interest you may have, plus 50% of your yearly Social Security benefits. This is also known as your "modified adjusted gross income" or "MAGI."

If you file your income taxes as "married - filing jointly," and your combined income for both you and your husband is more than $32,000, then up to 50% of your Social Security benefits will become taxable income. If your MAGI is over $44,000 then up to 85% of your Social Security benefits will become taxable. What that means in tax dollars depends upon your normal income tax rate as defined by the IRS. For information, the MAGI clip levels are lower when filing as an individual - if filing "single" MAGI over $25,000 means that up to 50% of Social Security benefits are taxable and MAGI over $34,000 means that up to 85% of Social Security benefits are taxable. But the advantages of filing jointly versus filing single usually more than offset the difference (though you may want to consult a tax advisor to confirm that).

As to your last question, an inheritance won't affect your monthly Social Security benefit (only your earnings from working will affect your Social Security benefit), but if that inheritance is taxable by the IRS, then the portion of your Social Security benefits which are taxable could be affected, as described above.

YMCA Seeks Donations For Neighborhood Center Food Pantry

Non-Perishable Food Items, Personal Care Products

For over a decade now, September has been recognized as Hunger Action Month. The title was established by Feeding America to encourage the public to learn more about the issue of hunger and food insecurities, and how to get involved to help solve these issues in their local communities.

This September, get in-involved in the effort here on the South Shore by supporting the South Shore YMCA food pantry at the Germantown Neighborhood Center. Your generosity provides critical support to your local community and the Y's Staystrong cancer support program members that may need assistance.

"With 1 in 6 American children not knowing where their next meal is coming from, hunger is a serious issue across the country and here at home on the South Shore as well," said Claire Brennan, associate executive director, Germantown Neighborhood Center. "We look forward to coming together with our community both this month and throughout the year to raise awareness about food insecurity and to supporting our neighbors in need."

Every month, approximately 500 families visit the SSYMCA Germantown Neighborhood Center's Food Pantry located at 366 Palmer St. in Quincy. Last year alone, the Germantown Neighborhood Center's Food Pantry distributed more than 126,250 pounds of food to people in need.

Each week, the Y's food pantry opens to invite members of our community to choose food and personal items that they need. The pantry is open:

- Wednesday and Friday 8:30 a.m. - noon
- Wednesday 4 - 6 p.m.

This year, the SSYMCA is hosting initiatives throughout September in honor of Hunger Awareness Month. Its goal is to raise $10,000 this September to make an immediate impact for our neighbors who may not know where their next meal is coming from.

In order to keep the Pantry shelves stocked, consider making a contribution to the SSYMCA. Here's how you can help:

- Make a cash donation to the Germantown Neighborhood Center Food Pantry.
- Donate non-perishable food items or personal care products to the Pantry which may be left at any South Shore YMCA location.

The following items are needed:

- Healthy cereal / whole grains
- Jelly / jams
- Healthy snacks / organic snack bars
- Juice boxes / organic
- Mayonnaise
- Solid white tuna
- Chicken noodle or Italian style wedding soup
- White bread
- Whole wheat bread
- Extra virgin olive oil

If unable to donate in person, consider making a monetary contribution this September. Make your online donation to the Y's food pantry at ssymca.org/donate.

"Every contribution you make helps to bring food and personal items to people in need," Brennan said. "Your donations and support of our Food Pantry has a direct impact on local youth and families, and helps to create a better, healthier future for the disadvantaged."

"On behalf of all those in need that we serve through our pantry and programs, thank you for your support both this September and year-round."

Visit www.ssymca.org to learn more about the Food Drive and direct any questions to Claire Brennan at cbrennan@ssymca.org or (617) 376-1384.

QCAP To Host Best Chef Event

Quincy Community Action Programs, Inc. (QCAP) invites guests to attend its 8th annual Best Chef fundraising event Thursday, Oct. 3 at 6 p.m. at Granite Links Golf Club in Quincy.

In a live culinary showcase, five of the area's most talented chefs compete for the title of "Best Chef."

Competing this year are Chef Ming Cao of Fuji at WoC in Quincy; Collin Davis of The Townshend in Quincy; Tony DeRienzo of Abby Park and Novara in Milton; Ashley Gaborial of Idle Hour in Quincy; and Marc Orfaly of ReelHouse in Marina Bay.

Susan Wornick will serve as the master of ceremonies.

In a race against the clock, each chef will use secret basket ingredients commonly provided by the Southwest Community Food Center, QCAP's food pantry. They must take these basic ingredients and create a gourmet dish for an experienced panel of judges. Ingredients in the past have included canned potatoes, corn muffin mix, and peanut butter.

Throughout the evening, guests will enjoy small plates from each restaurant's regular menu and vote for their favorite in the "People's Choice" competition. Guests can also participate in the live and silent auctions, which feature many exciting items including diamond earrings generously donated by Rogers Jewelry, game tickets for the Bruins and Celtics, two premium concert tickets and a parking pass to see Elton John on Nov. 15 at TD Garden, exclusive group dining experiences including an Omakase dinner at Fuji WoC and dinner at ALBA Restaurant, and gift certificates for restaurants, spas, and golf foursomes.

Tickets are $100 per person and $175 per couple. All funds raised will benefit QCAP's life-changing programs, which serve 21,000 unduplicated people annually in Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree, Milton, Hull, and more than 80 surrounding Norfolk County, South Shore, and Metro Boston communities. For 54 years, QCAP has been the leading private non-profit organization in the Greater Quincy area dedicated to reducing poverty and helping low-income individuals and families achieve economic stability.

QCAP offers a comprehensive set of services that provide nutritious food for individuals and families experiencing food insecurity; heating assistance and weatherization; adult basic education, career counseling and job placement; ESOL classes; financial coaching and credit repair services; affordable housing units, homeownership education and foreclosure counseling, tenant/landlord counseling, homelessness prevention counseling; access to quality and affordable early education and care through Head Start and Early Head Start; and childcare resource and referral services.

Major sponsors include United Way of Massachusetts Bay & Merrimack Valley; State Street; Bank of Canton; Granite Telecommunications; Rockland Trust; South Cove Community Health Center; Wells Fargo; Anodyne Medical Services; Mutual of America; Woodard & Curran; Eastern Bank; Income Research + Management; Law Offices of George G. Burke; Loomis, Sayles & Company; MountainOne Bank; and Murphy, Hesse Toomey & Lehane.

"Now, when the guys come back to the station from a fire, they'll be able to walk right into the shower room, throw their bunker gear, which is usually filled with carcinogens, into the extractor," said Bowes. "They can then take off their work clothes and throw them into the regular washer and dryer and then take a nice hot shower. That way, they can go upstairs into the living quarters and that way the living quarters in the stations won't be contaminated."

Each shower room has an extractor - a high speed industrial washer that will clean and decontaminate the firefighters' gear including coats, boots, gloves and protective pants. The extractor spins at a high speed and injects a special cleaning solution during the cycle.

"These extractors are NFPA (National Fire Protection Agency) compliant," said Bowes. "They are the Cadillac of extractors. They spin so fast they pull all the stuff out of the gear."

The regular washer and dryer are used for firefighters' uniforms. Since the extractors spin at such a high speed, they would damage regular clothing.

Bowes said the city also purchased drying racks where the gear can be hung to dry after washing.

"So guys can basically wash and dry their gear within a couple hours and be ready to go," he said. Bowes added that the city also purchased a second set of bunker gear for each firefighter.

There is also a separate shower room for female firefighters. There currently are no female firefighters, but Bowes said the room is there when they join the department.

Cancer rates among firefighters have increased dramatically in recent years throughout the nation. In Quincy there are more than 20 firefighters - retired and active - that have been diagnosed with cancer.

Modern building materials and furnishings have been blamed for the increased cancer rates. They contain plastics and synthetics and produce cancer-causing toxins when burned. Contaminated soot and smoke covers firefighters' gear and the carcinogenic toxins can be absorbed through the skin and inhaled to the Koch administration for providing funding for the shower rooms in an effort to protect the health of the firefighters.

Deputy Chief Joe Jackson expressed appreciation

"This is a huge game changer," he said. "Hopefully in the future, the guys can retire cancer-free and have a long, healthy retirement and enjoy it. This is the beginning of it."

Jackson noted that Quincy is the only community in the state that is installing the decontamination shower rooms.

Added Bowes, "This is something you might start seeing popping up other places."

The project was started last spring at headquarters and Station 2. The room at headquarters is nearing completion and work at the Quincy Point and West Quincy stations will get underway in the coming months.

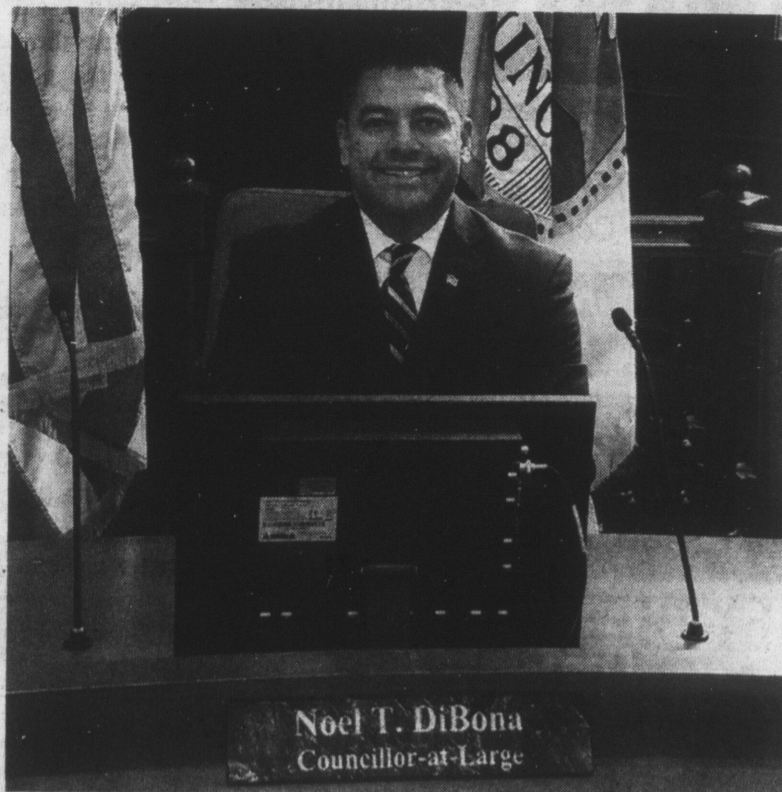

"There is a plan," said Bowes. "Obviously there is a cost factor. These stations are old. When you start peeling back the onion and seeing what you get into with the wiring and plumbing and everything else."

Jackson said a lot of re-

Free Computer Seminar At Norfolk Registry Of Deeds

Norfolk County Register of Deeds William O'Donnell will host a free computer seminar Wednesday, Oct. 23 from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the Registry of Deeds, Dedham.

O'Donnell said the program will include a brief presentation, reference materials and hands-on exercises. There will also be an opportunity to ask the staff follow-up questions.

Computer assisted land records are available both at the Registry's physical location and online at www.norfolkdeeds.org.

"These services have proven to be invaluable tools for our customers," O'Donnell said. "Please know that the seminar is free to the public. Attendance is based on a first come, first serve basis so it is best to sign-up early for these events because they fill up quickly."

To register for the seminar call Alicia Gardner at 781-461-6104 or email agardner@norfolkdeeds.org. Include your name, address, email and a daytime phone number when you register.

The Norfolk County Registry of Deeds is located at 649 High St. in Dedham. It is the principal office for real property in Norfolk County, amassing more than 6 million land records, dating back to 1793.

Registry Of Deeds Rededication Celebration Oct. 2

The Norfolk County Registry of Deeds will celebrate the rededication of its historic 116-year-old building located at 649 High St., Dedham, on Wednesday, Oct. 2.

The free event will be held from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and will include light refreshments. The public is invited to attend.

In addition to the building rededication, the event will celebrate the publication of the second edition of the Registry's Notable Land Records of famous and influential people who have lived in Norfolk County.

"The booklet," O'Donnell noted, "will honor an individual from each of the 28 communities comprising Norfolk County. These individuals include one of the greatest American composers of modern time, another was a six-time Olympic gold medalist and another was the chief-of-staff to a United States president."

"Furthermore, there will be an exhibit of these 28 land records and more throughout the Registry's renovated Great Hall," O'Donnell added.

Emily Bryson To Be Honored Sunday At City Of Presidents 5K Road Race

4-Time Div. III Track & Field National Champion

Emily Bryson, the winner of four NCAA Division III outdoor track and field national championships, will be honored before the City of Presidents 5k Road Race Sunday, Sept. 29th.

Mayor Thomas Koch will recognize the North Quincy High School and Brandeis University graduate at the start of the race to give a home town salute to Bryson who compiled three of her national championships this year competing as a senior at the Division III university.

Koch noted that Bryson was a home grown athlete who started in youth program at the Quincy Track Club, excelled in track at North Quincy High School and broke on to the national stage at Brandeis. Emily has participated in the race in past years and plans to run this year's event along with her dad. The race benefits the Quincy Public Schools Health and Wellness programs and is an ideal venue to recognize her remarkable achievement.

This Race will start at 9:30 a.m. from Adams Field, with pre-registration be-

Participants can also advance register online at: CityofPresidents5k.racewire.com.

Friends Of Blue Hills Celebration Oct. 3

The Friends of the Blue Hills will host its 40th Anniversary Annual Celebration on Thursday, Oct. 3, from 7-9 p.m. at the Canton Town Club, 300 Bailey St., in Canton.

The evening will include hors d'oeuvres, silent auction, and the presentation of the organization's 40th Anniversary Legacy Partner Awards and the 2019 Community Partner Award.

One person with local ties will be honored at this year's event: Steve Cobble of Quincy and president of the New England Mountain Biking Association will be recognized for his great efforts to protect and preserve the Blue Hills Reservation.

Tickets are $35 if purchased by Sept. 30 and $40 at the door and are available at FriendsOfTheBlueHills.org/Celebrate2019.

The keynote speaker at the Annual Celebration will be New York Times Best-Selling author Tom Ryan, who will share stories of his life-changing hikes with Atticus M. Finch, Emily B. Hawthorne, and Samwise A. Passaconaway.

There will also be a special raffle as part of the festivities: a gourmet dinner for six at the top of the Blue Hill Observatory, catered by Blue Hills Grille in Canton. Tickets for the raffle are $15 each or 3/$35 and can be purchased at FriendsOfTheBlueHills.org/Raffle2019.

search went into selecting the extractors prior to the start of the work last spring.

"The homework for this, especially by the union, was going on for years," he said.

Bowes and Jackson extended kudos to the city's building maintenance department for their work as well as the contractors.

"Every contractor that came in went above and beyond," said Bowes.

Added Jackson, "It took a lot of coordination for this, but it's worth it. The workmanship is amazing."

Jackson said the shower rooms were originally planned to be basically just a shower stall. The room is enclosed and features three shower stalls and the floor and walls are tiled.

"When we originally talked about these, they were cinder block walls with epoxy paint and shower heads coming out of it," he said. "These are built to last and will be around for a long time."

Bowes said the project is worth the city's effort to help keep firefighters healthy.

"There's no money in the budget to build eight new fire stations," he said. "If the city can do something like this at every station to help reduce the cancer rates I think that's great. It's great for the young guys. We're well on our way to reduce the cancer rates. We appreciate it."

Fontbonne Alumnae Celebrate Life Of Beloved School Nurse, Coach

Golf Tournament Held In Memory Of Susan Katchpole Raises $15,000 For School Athletics, MSCPA

She was an inspirational fixture at Fontbonne Academy for nearly four decades; educating and guiding hundreds of young women at the high school. So when Susan Katchpole lost her hard-fought battle with cancer earlier this year, one former student knew she had to do something special to celebrate her purposeful life.

"I came up with the idea because I wanted to honor Sue Katchpole in a way that was meaningful for both her friends and family, but also the Fontbonne community," said organizer and 2016 Fontbonne alumnae Colleen Tuite.

Katchpole worked at Fontbonne for 38 years. She started as a coach and taught Health and Physical Education. She later earned her Nursing degree and became the School Nurse while continuing to teach and coach. Katchpole loved golf and spent her summers working at a local course.

SUSAN KATCHPOLE

It only made sense to bring those who loved her together there for a charity golf tournament in their beloved friend's honor. Tuite, who was a member of the Fontbonne golf team, shared the idea with some fellow alumnae and the support was immediate. Katchpole's partner, Carol Mather was also all in. The women joined forces and hit the ground running.

Immediate Enrollment Opportunities At Grafton Jobs Corps Center

The Grafton Job Corps Center has immediate openings for individuals seeking free career training in the nation's leading industries, including construction, health care, hospitality, and homeland security.

Offered by the U.S. Department of Labor, Job Corps is the largest nationwide residential career technical training and education program in the country and has been operating for more than 50 years. The program helps eligible young people ages 16 through 24 complete their high school education, earn college credits, train for meaningful careers, and connect with employment, apprenticeship, military, or higher education opportunities. Job Corps centers also provide on-campus housing, nutritious meal options, basic medical care, uniforms and class supplies, and enrichment and recreation activities.

"The basic eligibility requirements for entering Job Corps are simple," said Debra Carr, acting national director of Job Corps. "The applicant must be 16 through 24 years of age, have a low income, and have educational and employment barriers or deficits. The program strongly encourages any individuals who meet these requirements, and are seeking opportunity to further their education and career pathway, to learn more about the many benefits Job Corps offers."

Job Corps is an open-entry and open-exit program that accepts new students on a weekly basis. To obtain additional information about the specific training programs and educational opportunities offered at the Grafton Job Corps Center, interested individuals can contact Job Corps by visiting jobcorps.gov, or by calling (800) 733-JOBS.

Colonial Federal Savings Bank Selling Grocery Totes To Benefit ISS

Colonial Federal Savings Bank is selling large grocery totes for a donation of $2 each to raise money for the Interfaith Social Services food pantry in Quincy. The bank will match all donations with a total of $4 going to Interfaith Social Services for each tote sold.

"Cities and towns in Massachusetts are increasingly banning plastic bags, so everyone has a use for a few good grocery totes," said Colonial Federal Treasurer and Chief Operating Officer Susan Shea. "It seemed like a win-win to fundraise with these sturdy grocery totes and have the money and a match going to benefit Interfaith Social Services, who have done so much good here in Quincy for more than 70 years."

Grocery totes are available during business hours at the Colonial Federal Savings Bank Main Office at 15 Beach St. in Wollaston (next to the Post Office) and for residents only at 1000 Southern Artery. Totes are also available at the Colonial Federal branches in Weymouth and Holbrook. For questions, call Peggy Loud at 617-471-0750.

With full-service offices in Quincy, East Weymouth and Holbrook, Colonial Federal Savings Bank has been the South Shore's "neighborhood bank" since 1889. All deposits are insured by the FDIC. The phone number is 617-471-0750.

Seeing Red Before Fall? Early Color Can Be A Sign Of Tree Stress

Vibrant red, orange and gold leaves are one of the best parts of fall. In our neck of the woods, peak color can arrive as early as late September or as late as mid-October. While cities across Massachusetts are known for their beautiful fall show, it could be a problem when trees show signs of fall before they should.

"Stressed trees often exhibit early leaf color or leaf drop," says George Barth, an ISA Certified Arborist® at Hartney Greymont, a Davey company. "If you see this in your own backyard, your trees may be asking for help."

Trees with too much/not enough water, those inundated by insects or diseases, or plants stressed for other reasons may slow or stop producing chlorophyll. That causes the fall coloring process to speed up and happen prematurely.

"This summer was one of the hottest on record for much of the Boston area," Barth says. "That excessive heat, coupled with a lack of water, can take its toll on trees."

Check your trees' leaves to see if they are the right color for the season. Leaves should not be brown or completely yellow just yet—nor should they be wilting or dropping.

Barth says if your trees are debuting fall color or leaf drop early, you should step in and give them extra attention for the remainder of the season.

A local arborist, like Barth, could tell you exactly what is stressing your tree out (and how to fix it). Or you can start boosting your tree's health with these four easy steps.

4 Steps to Keep Trees Healthy

1. Hydrate.

• Only water the area under the tree's branches, known as the drip zone. One inch per week in the absence of rainfall is usually enough for mature trees.

• For new trees, there's no specific amount of water they need. Instead, you want to make sure the top 12 inches of soil around the root ball remain well-watered.

• Be sure to check the rainfall before watering, too.

2. Check its water.

• If it hasn't rained in a few weeks, it's safe to say you should water.

3. Mulch.

• Add two to three inches of mulch around the tree to reduce moisture loss and moderate soil temperature.

• Pull mulch back 6 inches from the trunk of the tree in a saucer-like fashion.

• Avoid creating a mulch volcano.

4. Fertilize.

• Fertilize trees as necessary to provide nutrients that may be missing or in short supply.

Are your trees saying they're stressed? Make an appointment with George Barth, Hartney's local arborist. Call 781-444-1227 or visit Hartney.com to learn how to care for, protect and enhance your landscape's vibrant fall colors.

Bank Of Canton Receives Corporate Citizenship Award

Bank of Canton was recently recognized along with other honorees at the Boston Business Journal's annual Corporate Citizenship Awards event, for ranking among the largest corporate charitable contributors in Massachusetts last year. The Corporate Citizenship Awards, held at South Boston's Capo Restaurant and Supper Club, recognized 105 businesses that gave at least $100,000 in cash contributions to Massachusetts-based charities or social-service nonprofits last fiscal year. In addition to Bank of Canton, honorees included multi-million dollar corporations and represented a range of industries such as healthcare, insurance, legal, accounting and finance, among others.

"We're proud to receive the Corporate Citizenship Award," said Stephen P. Costello, president and CEO of Bank of Canton, "and we share this honor with our customers: the terrific families, individuals and businesses whose patronage fuels our charitable giving program."

"The recognition we've received for our community involvement this year – first with the Greater Boston Community Contribution award, and now the Corporate Citizenship Award – is due to the people and businesses who bank with us," Costello continued, "and we thank them."

In June, Bank of Canton was honored at the 2019 Banking Choice Awards in Springfield, Massachusetts, for ranking second in the independent Banking Benchmarks® survey's Community Contribution category for the Greater Boston region.

Since 2005, Bank of Canton has given more than $2.1 million to local charities and nonprofit organizations through donations and sponsorships. The bank's contributions have helped fund financial literacy pro-

Local Boston Cannons Player Martin Bowes Honored

By SCOTT JACKSON

The City Council recently recognized a Quincy High School graduate who plays lacrosse professionally for the hometown Boston Cannons.

Martin Bowes received a commendation from the council Sept. 16. Members of the lacrosse community in the city also praised him for his contributions to the game during that night's meeting.

Bowes, age 29, is a mid-fielder for the Cannons, the Major League Lacrosse squad that moved to Quincy this year. A 2008 graduate of Quincy High School, Bowes played four years of varsity lacrosse for the Presidents. He then walked on to the lacrosse team at the University of Hartford as freshman and played for the team throughout college.

The Cannons drafted Bowes in the eighth round of the 2012 MLL collegiate draft. The Florida Launch then selected Bowes in the 2017 MLL supplemental draft; he returned to the Cannons in 2019 after two years in Florida.

Councillor Anne Mahoney presented the commendation to Bowes during the Sept. 16 council meeting.

"We recognize and appreciate the honor you demonstrate as a pioneer of lacrosse in Quincy, as a coach for the youth in Quincy, your honorable career as a professional lacrosse player and the contributions you continue to make to the game," Mahoney said.

"We wish you continued success in bringing your knowledge, skill and expertise in developing and honoring the game of lacrosse in the city."

Bowes began playing lacrosse in sixth grade. His first coach, Joseph Finn, recalled watching Bowes score in the first round of the NCAA lacrosse tournament his junior year at Hartford.

"They said the first goal was scored by Martin Bowes of Quincy, Massachusetts. That just gave me such a sense of pride to think this young person had achieved this incredible level of lacrosse," said Finn, a former city councillor.

"Martin also has given back in so many ways. He gives back to Quincy Lacrosse presently and to many others in terms of teaching the skills of lacrosse."

Chris Baker, the president of Quincy Lacrosse, said Bowes is an inspiration to lacrosse players in the city.

"Marty has been a great advocate for lacrosse in Quincy. I think he inspires some of the young kids, some of the local kids who are learning to play the sport, to see a local kid can play professionally if they work hard. That's one of the main things Marty really preaches," Baker said.

"We really appreciate everything Marty has done for our program. He comes in and helps out, meets with the kids, works with them after practice. He's been a great help for the development of lacrosse in Quincy."

Bowes thanked the councillors for the commendation and Finn and Baker for their remarks.

"Thank you, guys, for giving this a piece of attention. I really didn't know what to expect when I came here. I have nothing but really true gratitude," Bowes said. "Thank you so much."

Quincy Girls Volleyball Tops NQ For 8th Win

By TOM JOYCE

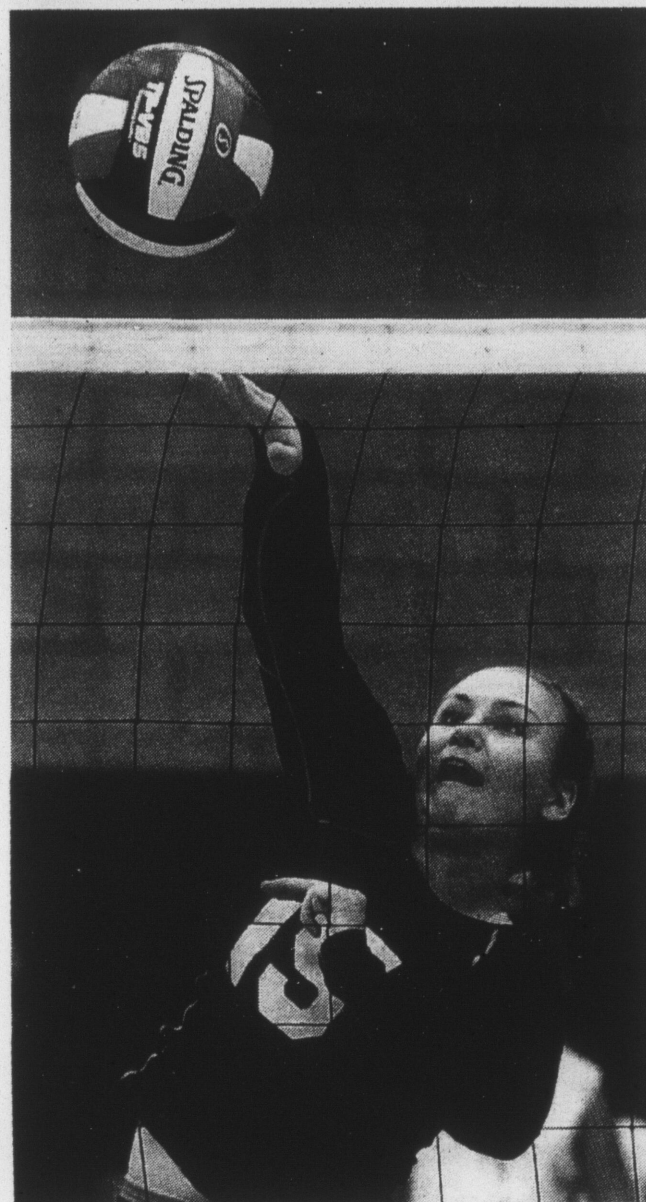

No one has defeated the Quincy High girls' volleyball team yet this season.

The Presidents kept their early season momentum rolling in an in-city rivalry match against the North Quincy Red Raiders. Battling a quality Patriot League opponent, the Presidents continued along their impressive track, earning a 3-0 home victory on Monday night to improve to 8-0 on the season. With the loss, the Red Raiders fell to 4-3 overall.

"We have a lot to work on between this game and our game last Friday," Red Raiders head coach Andrew Shaw said. "We've seen what we need to work on as a team. Some of the simple things. Teams noticed what we're good at and what we're not. A lot of constructive criticism came out of these two games."

"North played great defense," Presidents head coach Jacqui Niosi added. "They did a nice job mixing up their shots. I thought they served aggressive. It's a good team bonding game that can bring a team together. We had some good serving runs. I thought we did a good job of keeping balls alive and getting them to our outside to get a swing on them. That shifted momentum for us a few times during the match."

Early on in the first set, each team fought hard and enjoyed spouts of success. The Red Raiders took four of the first six points of the set, taking a quick 4-2 lead over the Presidents. However, that momentum would shift as the set progressed. The Presidents then outscored their opponent 10-6 over the next 16 points, taking a 12-8 lead, forcing the Red Raiders to call a timeout. The timeout did not do much to stop Quincy's momentum as they would take three of the next four points, extending their lead to six.

Ultimately, the Red Raiders were not able to come back from this deficit in the set. A hitting error from North Quincy, followed by a block from junior hitter Rachel McKenna and a serving ace from sophomore libero Mona Ly (6 aces) extended the Presidents' lead to 20-12, forcing another Red Raiders timeout. With Ly serving, the Presidents ended the set on an 8-0 scoring run and took it 25-12.

Momentum shifted to start the second set. The Red Raiders started it off on a 3-0 run before the Presidents responded with a spike of their own. The Red Raiders extended their lead 6-2 before the Presidents settled back in, tying it at seven apiece. Then, Ly served up three straight aces, giving the Presidents a 10-7 lead, forcing the Red Raiders to call a timeout. This reset momentum with both teams grabbing five of the next 10 points, making it 15-12.

Then, the Presidents got momentum back on their side, scoring four straight points to go up by seven. It was a deficit too large for North to come back from, and the Presidents won the set 25-16. McKenna finished the set off with a kill.

The third and final set turned out to be the most competitive of the bunch. It got tied up at seven, nine, 13, 14, 15, 16, 18, 19 and 21 apiece with the Red Raiders fighting to make a comeback. With the game tied at 21 apiece, the Presidents called a timeout. The Red Raiders took the next point, but a hitting error gave the Presidents a 24-23 lead and the ball, forcing a Red Raiders timeout. The Red Raiders then scored, tying it at 24 and a kill from junior outside hitter Olga Kosinski gave them the lead. However, the Presidents tied it back up and with the game tied at 27, a kill from Ashley Grehan and a serving ace from Alyssa Ruan (19 digs) won the Presidents the set 29-27.

"I was very proud of how they did in that game," Shaw said of the Red Raiders. "Between the first two sets and the third set, they managed to correct a lot of the mistakes. They minimized serving errors and hitting errors and we even put in a JV player who showed up and played well today. We used our bench tonight and they competed well."

Senior libero Jessica Tran put up a team-high 41 digs for the Red Raiders while senior setter Ashley Caldwell had 21 assists in

By TOM JOYCE

The Quincy High girls' soccer team ran into a rough stretch of Patriot League competition, but their luck turned in a hard-fought non league match last Saturday.

The Presidents traveled one town over to face the Milton Wildcats, a Bay State League opponent, and shined on both sides of the ball. The Presidents offense did their job and the team played stout defense as they came out on top with a 3-1 win to improve to 2-5-1 on the season. The win snapped a five-game losing streak for the Presidents, all but one of which were league games; the Presidents were shutout in each of those losses.

"We needed it," Presidents head coach Seth Harmon said of his team's win over Milton. "I think we probably had the hardest past two weeks of any team in Massachusetts taking on the Scituate, Hingham and Marshfields of the world. We were kind of down on ourselves, so this was a confidence-builder and an opportunity for us to show we can hang with anyone."

"I would say today was a huge team win," he added. "On all of our goals, there were three or four passes to set it up. There were a lot of players involved before we scored. I don't think anyone was trying to carry the team on their shoulders which is perfect."

It did not take the Presidents long to get on the scoreboard against Milton. In the ninth minute of the contest, senior captain Jill O'Toole drilled in the team's first goal of the game past a diving Milton goalkeeper. Her classmate Zahra Ouannass had the assist on the goal.

Milton countered with a goal of their own 11 minutes later. From about 20 yards away from the net, Milton booted a high kick over the head of Quincy's goalkeeper and into the net for a goal.

Quincy responded to Milton's score nine minutes later regaining the lead -- and never relinquishing it. At the 29 minute mark, junior Grace Akkara netted the go-ahead goal for the Presidents to put them up 2-1. Milton's goaltender came far out of the net in order to try to stop Akkara before she took a shot, but she juked out the goalkeeper and kicked the ball into the empty net. Senior Ainsley Walsh had the assist on the goal.

At halftime, the Presidents maintained a 2-1 lead. Two minutes into the second half, junior Kat Shaughnessy added an insurance goal for the Presidents, putting them up 3-1. The Presidents earned possession to start off the second half and controlled the ball, not playing defense in the second half until after Shaughnessy scored. Walsh also had the assist on this goal.

"Going into the second half, all we were talking about was playing together as a team, passing it around to our teammates, waiting until the other team makes a mistake, and trying to put one or two in the net in the first five minutes of the second half in order to put it away," Harmon said. "Obviously, we managed to score in the first two minutes of the half and I don't think they even touched the ball before we put it in."

From there, the Presidents continued playing tight defense, protected their lead and ended up on the winning side of the contest.

Although the team struggled in their past five contests coming into the match against Milton, Harmon did note that he sees facing the tough competition as beneficial for the team. "I love it," he said. "A lot of people actually don't like it, having a hard schedule. But when you're playing against a Hingham or a Marshfield and something like that, then you come into a game like this used to playing teams that are tough and fast and smart, it's a big advantage. If we can compete like we did against those teams for a half the way we did for a full 80 minutes today, we should be in good shape."

For the Presidents, whose goal is to make it to the post-season, experience is an asset. In total, they have eight seniors on the roster this season: Grace Hobin, Ainsley Walsh, Kylie Hernon, Melissa Knight, Tara McCleary, Jill O'Toole, Zahra Ouannass and Taylor Kinsley.

"It's awesome," Harmon said. "Our upperclassmen are doing a great job leading. It's not only vocally, but leading by example on the field in terms of effort and the intensity we need in order to get wins. They know we have a difficult schedule having played it the past three years. It's awesome to see."

Quincy Football Falls To Durfee, 14-7

By BRUCE MARQUIS

The Quincy High School Presidents (0-3) lost a game that could have been theirs 14-7 to the Durfee Hilltoppers of Fall River (2-1) last Friday evening at Veterans' Memorial Stadium.

Breaking into the scoring column for this first time this season on their first possession of the game, the home team could not score again despite two drives inside the Durfee 15-yard line. The game ended when junior quarterback Amarion Robinson's pass was tipped by a Hilltoppers defender and intercepted at the goal line with 7 ticks remaining on the clock.

After stopping the Hilltoppers on their first drive, the Presidents went on an 11-play drive, culminating with junior running back Isaiah Steinberg dashing into the north end zone from 8 yards out with 3:14 left in the initial stanza. Junior defensive back Billy Hibbard drilled the extra point to provide the Presidents with their first lead of the season. Key plays were two 16 yard runs for Steinberg and a 17-yard strike from junior quarterback Amarion Robinson to junior wide receiver Devin Desmond.

Outgaining their foes 292 yards to 238, the home team showed sparks of offensive brilliance spread across eight different runners and receivers but failed to produce points on two key drives. The first was on the second possession by the Hilltoppers when their punt was blocked by senior Trenton Sousa and recovered on the Durfee 15-yard line. But it was not to be. After being set back on a delay of game penalty, Quincy could not recover and turned the ball over on the 10-yard line.

The visitors then went on 9-play 90-yard drive, finished by sophomore quarterback Isaiah Thomas, when his "seeing-eye bullet" from the 13-yard line into the end zone on fourth down to sophomore Jevon Holley brought the visitors to within one point of the Presidents. The pass seemed to go through at least 4 arms of Quincy defenders. He then completed the conversion pass to Holley, thus, in the end, sealing his team's victory. Thomas completed only 3 of 9 passes for 15 yards but did managed to put up the winning points.

The Presidents' revamped offensive line opened more holes for Steinberg (13 carries for 81 yards), senior captain Shane Murphy (45 yards on 16 carries), and Robinson chipped in with 69 yards on 10 carries. Senior center Erik Mayo and senior Kevin Ferent anchored the offensive line. They were joined by senior captain and converted running back Thomas Le at guard and senior Tyler Ralls at tackle, with junior Muhammed Khan at the other guard. Catching their quarterback's throws were senior Lukas Schaff, Hibbard, Desmond, Steinberg, and senior captain Derek Little.

Durfee's first drive of the second half accounted for the final score as junior running back Najeer Monteiro ran in from the eleven-yard line to complete an 11-play drive. The conversion pass was intercepted in the end zone.

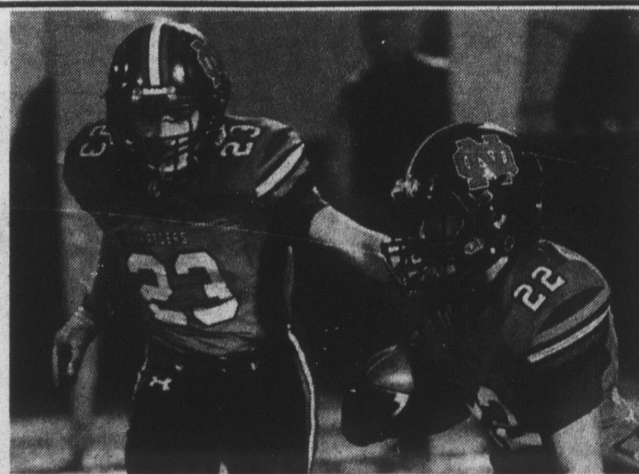

Durfee in the meantime was content to run the ball for much of the game totaling 213 yards on 30 carries, an average of 7.1 per. The damage was limited by senior linebackers Mike Cugini, Le and Murphy. Providing tight coverage on the outside were juniors James Devarie and Matt Kelly.

Then the final scintillating drive. Beginning at the Quincy 12-yard line with 2:12 remaining, Robinson seemed to come alive as he guided his team down the field. With passes to Derek Little for 12, Steinberg for 11, and then Little for another 10, his team achieved 3 successive first downs. After one incomplection, Robinson ran for 5, followed by Murphy for 2, and then another run by the quarterback for 5 yards and a first down. After spiking the ball to stop the clock with 40 seconds remaining, Robinson completed passes to Little again and to Steinberg who ran out of bounds. With 20 seconds left Robinson scrambled to his right and ran out of bounds at the 12 for 14 yards gained. With just 12 seconds left he lofted a pass into the end zone, but it was tipped by a Durfee defender and intercepted. Robinson showed the promise of his passing and running skills as he completed 5 passes for 56 yards plus 24 yards on the ground during the drive. He completed the game with 9 of 19 passes for 106 yards and one interception.

It was Senior Night for the Presidents as the families of the players were introduced before the game, accompanying the respective seniors to the center of the field including: James Corkery, Michael Cugini, Kevin Gallant, Kevin Ferent, Thomas Le, Eddie Lei, Derek Little, Eric Mayo, Matthew McGinnis, Shane Murphy, Tyler Ralls, Milo Santangelo, Michael Scibilio, Trenton Souza, Devante Williams and Jordan Wu.

This week the Presidents have a bye, and then travel to Pembroke for a league game on Oct. 4th at 7 p.m.

NORTH QUINCY varsity football team will be seeking its first win of the season when the Red Raiders host Archbishop Williams High School Friday at 7 p.m. at Veterans' Memorial Stadium. NQ bowed to Westwood, 19-8, on the road last Saturday. Here Hunter MacIsaac (#22) carries the ball for NQ as teammate Eli Walsh prepares to block against Silver Lake.

QNQ took both ends of their meet with Scituate. The girls put four runners ahead of the first Sailor runner to clinch a 16-39 win. Lezly Acevedo, Maeve White and Victoria Mariano ran as a pack over the entire course with little effort.

In the boys race Robert Cannon, only a sophomore, ran an even pace over the 2.5 mile course cruising to a 13:51 win and smashing the old Quincy High course record of 14:08 set by Brendan Cunningham, now a member of the ENC basketball coaching staff, set in 2012. The overall course record of 13:08 was set in 2017 by Plymouth North star Nick McNamee, now running for Stonehill. North Quincy's course record is ironically held by Robert's brother Jimmy Cannon: 13:21.

Senior Captain Braeden Kopp, Vinh Tran and Bobby Donovan went 3-4-5 and Dakota Pendleton finished 12th and clinched the victory. The boys improved to 2-0 overall and 1-0 in the Fisher Division. The big test was Wednesday as the team traveled to Pembroke to take on the always powerful Titans.

QNQ was without two strong runners against Scituate. Mairead Kelly was out with a knee injury and Matt Francouer is battling a hip issue. Both plan to run at Pembroke as of press time.

The league also put on its first ever JV/Freshman Jamboree at Hingham High School. The Harbormen and women put on a great event and QNQ runners performed well. In the boys freshman race (1.7 miles) Peter Cooney was 4th and Huy Ho was 7th. Other competitors were Cullen Quilty 17th, Dante Nguyen 45th and Liam McCoy 47th. Over 50 boys raced. In the boys JV race Will Cook was 8th Jack Nelson 32nd, Shane Faherty 36th, and Zach Clements 39th. 107 boys ran in the JV. In the Girls JV race Eileen Durgin was 24th and Sabrina Egan was 41st; 87 girls ran. QNQ's next home meet is Oct. 2nd vs. Haver. All home meets are at Pageant Field, starting at 4 p.m.

Quincy Youth Football - Week 3 Highlights

All Quincy Youth Football teams were home for the first time this season for a football marathon in the late summer heat at Veterans' Memorial Stadium on Sunday.

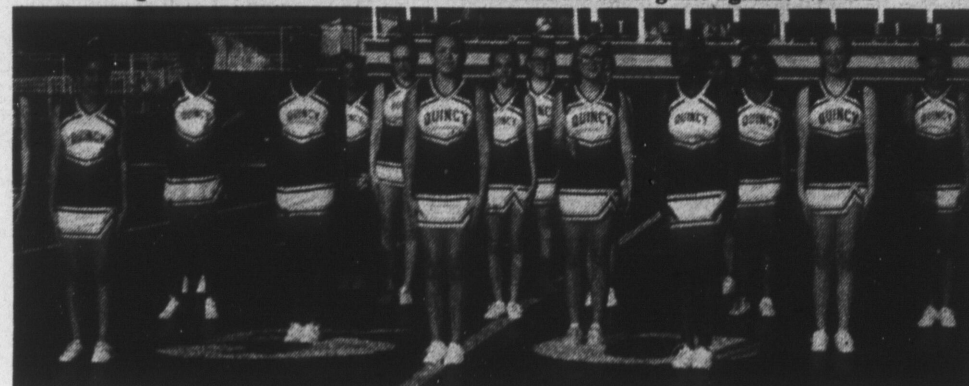

The 2nd/3rd grade instructional team kicked off the morning with a battle against the Wellesley Jr Raiders. Quincy United 3rd graders were led by the running of quarterback Trevor Gardner who ran for 2 touchdowns, a 13-yard run and a 32-yard run in the first half, while Mike Boyle added the conversion for a 14-0 lead for Quincy at halftime.

After a scoreless 3rd quarter, Boyle added another touchdown in the 4th quarter to seal a 20-0 victory for Quincy. "3J" Limmage (12 tackles), Jairo Fernandez (7 tackles and 3 take-downs to prevent Wellesley touchdowns), and Cillian Conner all played great defensively for Quincy. The Quincy United 4th grade team did not fare as well, as they were topped 30-0 by a good Wellesley team.

5th Grade - The Quincy 5th graders had a big morning as they crushed the visiting Braintree Wamps. Quincy got a nice 22-yard touchdown run by Nick Ambroult to open the scoring, but the conversion kick for the extra points was blocked, as Quincy went up 6-0. Jonas Ala added another touchdown with an 18 yard run, and Gavin O'Hare's 40 yard fumble return added a third touchdown in the first quarter. Ala added a rushing extra point for the 19-0 early lead.

Quarterback Ryan Sampson found the end zone with a 3-yard touchdown, then passed to Johjoe Ham for the extra point in the second quarter. Sampson wasn't done as he raced another 57 yards for his second touchdown and Quincy held a 32-0 lead at the half. In the third quarter Dante Marinilli rushed for a 40-yard touchdown, and Adam Austin and Aaron Fordjour both chipped in with 4th quarter scores to close out the win for Quincy.

6th Grade - The Wamps edged Quincy United 6th graders 13-6 in a hard fought game. Ronan Brown connected with wide receiver Caden Pina for an early Quincy touchdown and the 6-0 lead early in the contest. Quincy fought back and late in the 4th quarter was threatening as Braintree intercepted pass on their 1-yard line to hold on for the victory over Quincy. Coach Mike Killelea had praise for his team's effort in a tough game, and recognized Leo Steinberg, Brayden O'Connell, Camerin Dent, Ryan Wirtz, Tim Toland, Jacoby Quinn, Malcolm McMorrow, and Spencer Knight.

7th Grade - As the afternoon heated up, with temperatures reaching 90 degrees, the real heat came from the Quincy United offense as they defeated Braintree 32-0. Quincy's Anthony Melchoine opened the scoring with a long touchdown run and an early 6-0 lead for Quincy. On the ensuing possession, Quincy forced a 4 and out series for Braintree. Quincy immediately capitalized as quarterback Mikey Galligan (6-9, 168 yards passing and 3 TDs) connected with wide receiver Alex Martinez on a 60-yard touchdown pass, and on their next possession Galligan raced to another touchdown on a 40 yard bootleg. At the end of the first half, Melchione added another touchdown with an 80-yard run and Quincy held a 20-0 halftime lead.

The second half was more of the same, and one of the best plays of the day came when Galligan broke multiple tackles, scrambling and finding receiver Nate Goff for an impressive 30-yard touchdown. Head Coach Mike Flavin of the Quincy 7th graders praised his defensive unit for a great game. Defense was led by John Jordon, Cam Sampson, Matthew Toland, Thomas Chan, Sean Szilva, Joe Nisita, and Domenic Perry. Perry and Szilva both rushed the ball well on offense. Flavin complimented Assistant Coaches Curtis Perry, Adam Szilva and Eddie Ford for helping to prepare the game plan and getting the team ready to compete.

Grade 8 - The Quincy Jr Presidents played their first home game and improved to

2-1 on the season with a big win over the Newton Mustangs 38-0. Quincy's Gabe Rodriguez opened the scoring with a 6-yard run for a touchdown and an early 6-0 lead. In the second quarter Teddy Lynch raced 18 yards for a second touchdown and John Toland ran in the extra points for Quincy. Later in the second quarter, as Newton was attempting a punt, Ruben Santana blocked it and Rodriguez scooped it up and raced into the end zone and increased Quincy's lead to 19-0. Later in the second quarter, Toland threw a 19-yard touchdown pass to Lynch and Quincy increased its lead to 25-0 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Toland ran 65 yards for another Quincy score, and Santana chipped in the final touchdown in the fourth quarter with a 5 yard run to endzone. Coaches saw solid play on both sides of the ball from Rodrigues, Santana, Lynch, Toland, Jordan Mahoney, Brandon Toomer and Josh Cannon had a great day running the ball and returning punts for the Jr Presidents in their win.

The North Quincy Apaches (3-0) remained undefeated as they cruised to a big win over Braintree.

Happy Rosh Hashanah

Mayor Thomas P. Koch and Family

On Friday, Sept. 13, at approximately 1:25 p.m., numerous officers working details in the north end of the city reported seeing a red and white unregistered dirt-bike driving at erratically, at high speeds weaving in and out of traffic.

There have been numerous reports in the past two weeks of the above described dirt-bike driving to endanger, doing "wheelies" all around the city. Descriptions of the driver were provided in many cases but since there was no license plate attached, it was unknown where the driver could be headed to.

Patrol units responded to the ever changing locations as the dirt-bike driver was speeding about the city. At this time, Officer E.J. Hartnett reported that as he attempted to stop the dirt-bike, the driver drove directly at him, almost striking him. Officer Hartnett radioed that the dirt-bike fled on Newport Avenue. Officer Cox, working a detail at 150 Hancock St. reported that he also observed this same dirt bike commit several violations less than a minute before it attempted to hit Officer Hartnett.

Officer Leuchte heard the radio transmission and informed units that he had information that a male from Houghs Neck was the operator. At this time, Quincy Police Communication advised that the dirt-bike was observed traveling east bound on Furnace Brook Parkway in the area of Hancock Street, followed by reports that it was now heading towards Houghs Neck. Officer Foley, who was conducting traffic enforcement in the area, took up a position on Sea Street and moments later the dirt-bike came out of Wampatuck Road, darting out into traffic crossing all four lanes of Sea Street and causing a motorist on Sea Street to swerve to avoid striking it. The driver of the dirt-bike, wearing a red long sleeve shirt, drove off at approximately 45 mph.

Numerous units responded to the area and were instructed by supervisors not to engage in a high speed pursuit so as not to endanger the public. Less than a minute later, Officer Foley observed the dirt bike again traveling south on Rhoda Street at Spring Street at a high rate of speed. Based on the information provided by Officer Leuchte about the possible driver/suspect, Officer Foley parked his cruiser about 300 yards away from the suspect's house and hid while waiting for the dirt bike to show up. Anti-Crime Officer Dougan, in plain clothes, was also in the area.

Within minutes, the dirt bike turned onto the suspect's street traveling slowly. When the operator was approximately three houses away, Officer Foley stepped out onto the side walk into view. The dirt bike immediately turned and accelerated away. A few minutes later Motorcycle Officer Grazioso passed by the dirt bike operator in very close proximity (no lights or sirens activated) and was able to identify the operator's face.

Using Officer Leuchte's information, Communications sent out the suspect's driver's license picture to all units and Officer Grazioso confirmed the male on the dirt bike was the same suspect. Officers Dougan and Foley periodically checked this address over the course of the next 30 minutes. Soon after, a black vehicle pulled into the suspect's driveway and a female (suspect's mother) driver exited and looked up the street several times as if to be looking for someone.

At approximately 2:31 p.m., Officer Dougan observed the black vehicle driving down the suspect's street and then pull in his driveway. A male appearing to be the suspect exited the vehicle and walked to the front door. Officers Dougan and Foley sprinted toward the house and caught up to the suspect just as he was entering the front storm door. The suspect instead attempted to close the door while yelling, "Mom, the cops are trying to get in."

Within seconds, the suspect's mother came running and shouting for the officers to get out of her house. The suspect then began filming the incident with his cell phone camera. Officer Foley then took out his department issued cell phone and videoed the scene, too. When asked for his driver's license, the suspect blurted out, "I don't have to give it to you."

After asking the suspect several times to step outside and speak with the officers to no avail, Officer Foley advised the suspect and his mother that a search warrant was going to be applied for and that the residence would be "frozen" so that no evidence could be compromised. The mother angrily stated that she knew "Boston Cops" and demanded the officer step out of her house. After re-advising that a search warrant was coming to search for clothing, helmet etc. in the house, the mother reached down and attempted to forcibly push the Officer's leg out of the door way. Officer Foley responded, "That is assault and battery." The mother then demanded that a sergeant come to the scene.

At this time, Officer Grazioso arrived at the front door and immediately identified the male as the operator he observed riding the red and white dirt bike in an erratic manner on Bayview Avenue a short time earlier. Officer Grazioso asked permission to enter their home and the mother said, "You can come in the house but I don't want this piece of f@#$%^& s&*^ in my house" referring to Officer Foley.

As Officer Grazioso walked through the front door, the mother, with a smirk on her face, violently slammed the heavy duty metal interior door into the right side of Officer Foley, knocking him off balance and almost causing him to fall down the front cement stairs.

Fearing for Officer Grazioso's safety, Officer Foley pushed the door back open and entered the home's front porch area and assisted Officer Grazioso who was already placing hand cuffs on the suspect. Moments later, Captain Steele arrived and took command of the scene. The 18-year-old suspect was transported to police headquarters for booking.

Captain Steele advised the 46-year-old mother of the situation and requested her permission to search the home. She was also advised that she was not going to be arrested but would face criminal charges via a summons to court. The North Quincy's offense was led by strong offensive line play of Jialin Yu, Brody Baker, and Michael Phinny who opened nice holes for the Apaches running attack. Ben Hudach opened the scoring with an 8-yard run to the end zone, and Noel Sancho's kick for the extra points was good as the Apaches went up 8-0. Later in the first quarter, Noah Baker recovered a Braintree fumble to set up another touchdown for Hudach, and Sancho again was good for the extra points kick.

Braintree answered with a touchdown and extra point to climb back within a touchdown of the Apaches. Will Conley and Charlie Baker both rushed for 2 more Apaches' touchdowns, and Baker tossed to tight end Dan Hudach for a commanding lead for North Quincy at the half.

In the third quarter Alan Guan joined in on the scoring with a 36-yard touchdown run and again Sancho kicked the extra points. In the fourth Chase Vey also chipped in with a 9-yard touchdown and Sancho's extra points closed out the scoring for the afternoon. North Quincy got solid performances from Enhea Panariti, Charlie Ambroult, Ben and Dan Hudach, Baker, Guan, Yu, and Connelly.

Next weekend the Quincy United teams will visit Norwood for a slate of games against another tough Baystate program, and the Jr Presidents 8th graders will travel to Weymouth with a matchup against the Wildcats.

the match. Plus, sophomore Olivia Kosinski stepped up for the team, performing well as a server.

Senior outside hitter Juliana Tracey led the Presidents with 10 kills in the win.

Even though the Presidents are unbeaten, Niosi said her team still has plenty of room for improvement.

"We're just trying to improve every time we step onto the court," she said. "We want to be more competitive, faster, make better decisions and get more used to playing with each other."

NORTH QUINCY senior libero Jessica Tran had a team-high 41 digs for the Red Raiders against Quincy.

Souther Tide Mill Open, Millstone Dedication Oct. 5

By KATHY HOGAN
Friends of Souther Tide Mill

The grounds of Souther Tide Mill are open to the public again this year on Saturday, Oct. 5 from noon to 3 p.m.

The mill site is located at 626 Southern Artery.

Learn more about the early industries on the banks of Town River and Town Brook at this free event. Established in 1806, the business featured shipbuilding, a saw mill, granite transport at the Quincy Canal, and the tide mill -- only surviving part of this once thriving industrial area and one of only five remaining in the U.S.

SPECIAL! Friends of Souther Tide Mill now has its own new millstone, and it will be unveiled just before this event. It's a replica of the kind of millstone that was used at the mill back in the 1800s. Donated by Frank Hogan and carved by master stonemason John Monti here in Quincy, the millstone will be unveiled by Mayor Tom Koch at 10:30 a.m. Donations toward the millstone base have come from Quincy Access TV, Register of Deeds Bill O'Donnell, state Rep. Tackey Chan, Councillor Anne Mahoney, and Frank and Kathy Hogan.

There will be cookies donated by Ginger Betty's plus games for kids, too. Enjoy popcorn at the tide mill where corn used to be ground. Visitors will have a chance to talk to our tide mill historian Doug Morrill. You can meet Wayne Miller, author of Quincy Massachusetts: A Shipbuilding Tradition, who will be there with his books. And more!

According to Friends president and historian Morrill, "We're eager to get the tide mill established as a National Historic Site because it's one of only five tide mills left in the country. It was a really important part of Quincy's early industrial history. I know people will want to come here and visit the mill when it's restored."

"In the meantime," Morrill continued, "we want to have events so visitors can still come and enjoy it here."

We've done outreach at the South Shore Science Festival and the Quincy Farmers Market in the past. And we hope that visitors who come here to the mill might decide to become a member, too, of Friends of Souther Tide Mill!" he added.

When you've driven past this old mill building along the Southern Artery, you may have wondered what it's all about. Dropping by to visit is a chance to get closer up and find out!

Souther Tide Mill is located between Quirk Nissan and CVS on Southern Artery. Look for the balloons!

Rec Ice Skating Lessons Program

The Quincy Recreation Department announces an eight-week program of ice skating lessons with two classes on Wednesday afternoons at the Quincy Youth Arena.

The program is offered to boys and girls age six through 14. Learn the fundamentals of skating. Online registration can be done at QuincyRec.com beginning Oct. 1.

Walk-in registration is also available in the main office of the Quincy Recreation Department, One Merrymount Parkway beginning at 9 a.m. on Oct. 1 and will continue weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. as long as openings exist.

There will be two separate classes beginning at 3:10 and 4:05 p.m. on Wednesdays with classes starting Oct. 23. Both classes offer the same levels of instruction and will run for eight weeks.

The cost of the program is $75 for the eight-week session, which includes instruction and ice time. Participants need to provide their own skates, which may be figure, or hockey skates with a single blade.

Registration is done on a first come first served basis. For more information call the Quincy Recreation Department at 617-376-1394 or visit QuincyRec.com.

A Job Well Done

By QUINCY POLICE LT. DAN MINTON

mother signed a consent to search form and soon after officers located a long sleeve red shirt that had been discarded on top of the laundry basket in the suspect's bedroom. According to Officer Grazioso, the red shirt was still moist to the touch which was an indication to him that it had been worn by the suspect very recently. The fact that it was the most recent piece of clothing to be discarded into the laundry basket supports this. It should also be noted that the day was a warm and sunny day making it very unlikely that anyone else in the area would be wearing a long sleeve red shirt.

At 3:08 p.m., all QPD units cleared from the address. As Officer Foley walked to his cruiser, at least five local residents thanked him for their efforts and that the suspect has been terrorizing the neighborhood for years. The suspect was charged with assault by means of a dangerous weapon (dirt bike), failure to stop for police, four counts of operating a motor vehicle recklessly as to endanger, four counts of marked lanes violations, four counts of speeding and two counts of failing to signal. The suspect's cell phone was seized as evidence for footage of the incident.

During the typing of this report, Detective Eddy provided Officer Foley of his police report from April 12, 2015 when he charged the suspect, then 14 years old with operating to endanger, failing to stop for police and speeding. The type of vehicle the suspect was operating during that incident four years ago was a red and white dirt bike (presumably the same one).

Officer Foley used restraint and chose not to arrest the mother at the scene and instead filed a complaint in Quincy Court against her for assault and battery with a dangerous weapon (metal door), assault and battery on a police officer and interfering with a police officer.

It is believed that the suspect ditched the dirt bike and helmet at an unknown location and then made his way back to his home, where he changed into the dark short sleeve shirt. It is believed that he did this in an effort to avoid being identified by police. Officer Foley in his report requested that the court compel the suspect to surrender the red and white dirt bike to the Quincy Police Department as part of any future plea agreement.

Nice Work!

UPTICK IN CAR BREAKS: I'm seeing a slight increase in car breaks this past week. Almost all car breaks in Quincy are not really "breaks." Criminals usually go car-to-car looking for an unlocked one and then quickly rummage through it looking for money and small electronic items. It is rare that a window is smashed to gain access and in those cases it is because the victim left something of value in plain sight on the seat, such as a purse, wallet or a computer.

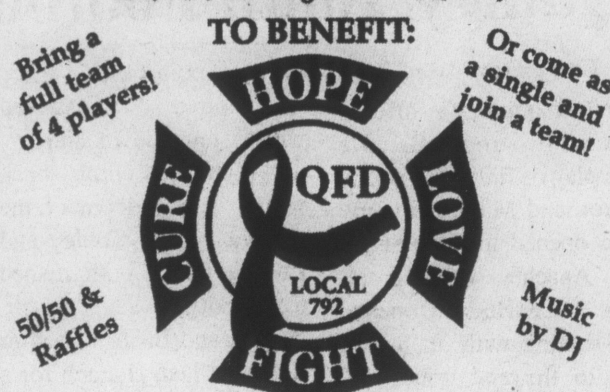

Make it a habit of hitting your vehicle's remote nightly before going to bed to significantly reduce your chances of waking up a victim.

OBITUARIES

Edward F. Percy, 94

A Mass of Christian Burial for Edward Francis Percy, age 94, of Cohasset, formerly of South Weymouth and South Braintree, was celebrated Sept. 21 in St. Anthony Church, Cohasset.

Mr. Percy died peacefully surrounded by family on Sept. 16.

Beloved husband of Ann Marie (Signorelli). Devoted father of Sheryl Ann Percy of Milton and Jeanne Marie Spence and her husband Richard of Scituate. Grandfather of Michela Catherine Valente, Nicole Marie, Gabrielle Jeanne, and Robert Charles Dongara, Richard William and Jordan Keith Spence. Brother of the late Harrison W. Jordan and wife Mary, Jack Percy, and Joseph Percy and wife Betty. Brother-in-law of William Signorelli and his late wife, Nancy and predeceased by Mary R. Green, Theresa Signorelli, Vito Signorelli and wife Sheila, Barbara Gunville and husband Richard, Katherine Igo and husband Paul. Also survived by many nieces and nephews.

Mr. Percy was a graduate of BC High, Class of 1946. He went on to attend Boston College and Northeastern to study law. Mr. Percy joined his brother Jack and together they owned Miller Studio until Jack's passing in 1976. He grew the business to be one of the most successful photography studios in the country, receiving numerous awards for his business acumen from Eastman Kodak.

Mr. Percy was past president of The Quincy Rotary Club where he received the Paul Harris Award. He delighted in writing the Rotary bulletin for many years, which he did with wit and charm. Mr. Percy was past president of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce and a past master of the Grange. He served for many years as a director of the Shipbuilder's Cooperative Bank. Mr. Percy was an active parishioner in St. Francis Xavier and St. Anthony's. His charitable spirit was noticeable, and he was dedicated to many charities.

Interment at Woodside Cemetery, Cohasset.

Funeral arrangements were made by McNamara-Sparrell Funeral Home, Cohasset.

In Mr. Percy's spirit of giving, please consider smiling at a stranger and doing a kind deed.

Frances P. Andronico, 87

A funeral Mass for Frances P. (Faiella) Andronico, age 87, a lifelong Quincy resident, was celebrated Sept. 21 in St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Andronico died peacefully Sept. 16 at Massachusetts General Hospital, surrounded by her loving family.

She was born in Quincy, to the late Americo and Mary (LoDico) Faiella, and was a graduate of Quincy High School, Class of 1949.

Mrs. Andronico was a well-known Quincy and South Shore soloist for many years. She sang at funerals and weddings in various Quincy churches, including St. Mary's Church, St. John the Baptist Church, St. Joseph's Church, and Our Lady of Good Counsel. She was also a church cantor.

Over the years, Mrs. Andronico had sung and performed in musical shows at St. John's Church with her late husband, Leo, and with the "Belles and Beaux," a popular singing group that entertains seniors and at local nursing facilities.

She was active in community affairs and was a member of the Junior League. Mrs. Andronico served as a PTO president, room mother, and volunteer in the Quincy schools. She also worked the election polls in the City of Quincy where she was known for being the first to complete her tally and report to city hall.

Mrs. Andronico enjoyed traveling with her husband, Leo, and entertaining for family and friends, always ready for a sing-a-long or organizing Christmas carols. She loved bowling and belonged to various bowling leagues.

FRANCES P. ANDRONICO

Most of all, Mrs. Andronico was dedicated to her family and especially to her much loved grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Beloved wife for sixty years of the late Leo Andronico. Devoted mother of David J. Andronico and his wife MaryAnn, Maria M. Klisiaris and her husband Zissis, Dawna Lee Donaghey and her husband Peter, Anthony F. Andronico and Karen Williams, all of Quincy, and Melissa J. Sepulveda and her husband Jose of Marion. Loving grandmother and "Grinky" of ten grandchildren and cherished great-grandmother of four.

One of four siblings, she was the dear sister of Sally Saluti of Weymouth and predeceased by Norma Proto and Louis J. Faiella. Sister-in-law of Alice Faiella of Quincy. She is also survived by many nieces, nephews, grand nieces, grand nephews, cousins, and friends.

Interment at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Memorial donations may be made to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude's Place, Memphis TN 38105.

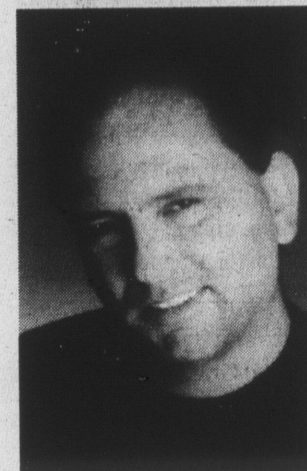

Roland A. Provost, 60

Visiting hours for Roland A. Provost, 60, of Quincy, were held Monday in Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mr. Provost died at home suddenly on Sept. 13.

Born in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, he was the son of the late Norman A. Provost and Margaret I. (Saulnier). Mr. Provost was a graduate of North Quincy High School and worked for many years as a computer programmer.

He was the brother of Deborah M. Provost of Braintree and Linda Provost of Quincy. He was the uncle of Matthew Beattie of Rockland and is survived by many uncles and cousins.

ROLAND A. PROVOST

Interment at Central Cemetery, Randolph.

Memorial donations may be made to the American Diabetes Association, 10 Speen St., 2nd Floor, Framingham, MA 01701.

Doris M. Hardie, 88

A graveside service for Doris M. Hardie, 88, of Quincy, was held Monday in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Mrs. Hardie died Sept. 18.

Daughter of the late Arthur and Maryjane Lindvall. Beloved wife of the late James Hardie. Cherished mother of John Hardie, Donna McKenzie and her husband Francis and Debra Bolton and her husband Jeffrey. Niece of the late Annie Bird Pope. Cherished grandmother of William, Heather, Michelle and Doris.

Mrs. Hardie was a kind and caring friend, mother and grandmother. She worked as a bookkeeper at Quincy Oil and Grossman's before marrying her husband, the late James B. Hardie of Quincy. She enjoyed square dancing with Jimmy, music, sewing and knitting, and most of all just talking and laughing with the people she loved. She was a member of the Quincy chapter of the Eastern Star for many years and served as worthy matron four times.

Funeral arrangements were made by Hamel-Lydon Chapel & Cremation Service of MA, 650 Hancock St., Quincy.

Edward J. Halloran, 62

Memorial visiting hours for Edward J. Halloran, 62, of Quincy, were held Sunday in Hamel-Lydon Chapel & Cremation Service of MA, 650 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mr. Halloran died Sept. 16.

Son of Joel Halloran and the late Eleanor Halloran of NY. In addition to his father, he is survived by his siblings: Mark Halloran, Maureen Halloran, Cathleen McCollian, and Brendan Halloran; his children Daniel and Lorraine Halloran, and nieces Eadan, Finnuala, Chloe and Sinead.

Mr. Halloran was a veteran of the United States Army, 1984-94, rank SSG, whose service included the Panama Invasion, Desert Shield and the Korean DMZ.

He was well loved by both family and friends for his intense loyalty and intelligent wit. Mr. Halloran was a loving brother, father and son who cared deeply for his family, and could always be counted on to share his wisdom, humor and time to support them.

Carol A. Kelly Nelson, 77

A funeral Mass for Carol A. Kelly Nelson, 77, of Quincy, will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in St. Mary's Church, Quincy.

Ms. Kelly Nelson died unexpectedly Sept. 21.

Daughter of the late Thomas J. and Teresa Kelly. Former wife of the late Charles "Donnie" Nelson. Loving mother of Beth Nelson-Cunniff of Quincy and Michael Kelly of Weymouth. Devoted Grammy of Hannah, Shane and Grace Cunniff. Sister of Ellen Kelly of Sagamore Beach, Teresa Kelly of Newburyport, Brendan Kelly of NH and the late Thomas and Robert Kelly along with many nieces and nephews. She is also survived by her dear friend and favorite copilot Rita McKenna.

Ms. Kelly Nelson was born in South Boston and moved to Quincy as a young child where she spent the rest of her life raising her children. She was the former owner of the Children's Orchard, a well-known children's clothing store in Quincy, for 15 years. In her prior years, she was a technical trainer for many years at Wang Laboratories. More recently, Ms. Kelly Nelson was a tax preparer for H & R Block, which she enjoyed very much as being able to help others was a passion for her.

Once retired and living at the Moorings in Quincy, she volunteered her time preparing taxes for the other residents to keep herself busy. Aside from volunteering, Ms. Kelly Nelson went on many day trips to local spots with her best friend, Rita. She enjoyed Irish music, crocheting, cribbage, the Red Sox and all things Newfoundland. Her dry sense of humor and sharp wit were ever present, no matter the occasion. She was a wonderful cook and her famous Irish bread and figgy duff will be greatly missed. She will be remembered as a devoted mother, a cherished grammy and a faithful friend. She will be sadly missed by all those who had the pleasure of knowing her.

Visiting hours were 4 to 8 p.m. Wednesday in Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy. A celebration of life service will be held there at 9:15 a.m. Thursday.

Private interment.

Hall Johnson, Moses Hogan, Franz Schubert, and JS Bach.

Works performed include "Kyrie" from the Mass in G Major by Franz Schubert, "Deep River," "I've Been Boked," and other traditional classical works and African American spirituals.

Donations appreciated and parking is free. All are welcome.

The Schiller Boston Community Chorus is known for stirring performances of African American spirituals and classical choral works. The group recently performed with the Schiller New York City Community Chorus at the 9/11 Memorial Concert held Sept. 8, at Saint Veronica Creative & Cultural Center in Greenwich Village.

The Jena Jubilee Singers, affiliated with the Friedrich Schiller University, specialize in American choral music, primarily by the well-known African American composer Moses Hogan. They are currently touring the East Coast of America. The concert in Quincy is their second stop. The Schiller utilized by classical composers such as Mozart, Beethoven, and Verdi.

Plant.Grow.Share Initiative Seeks Produce Donations

The Plant.Grow.Share initiative is a collaborative effort between Keohane Funeral Home, Interfaith Social Services (ISS), and Weymouth Food Pantry (WFP) to encourage backyard growers to donate produce to local food pantry clients.

This community outreach program boasts educational workshops, a free seedlings giveaway week, and many opportunities for the community to come together to help our neighbors.

John Keohane, Co-President of Keohane Funeral Home, said:

"We are so happy to see the continued success of the Plant.Grow.Share program. It's been wonderful to see so many in our community participate, from backyard gardeners wanting to learn more to grocery store shoppers willing to share their excess with hungry food pantry patrons."

There is still time to join the Plant.Grow.Share movement. Produce donations are very important to local food pantries.

The Plant.Grow.Share program encourages people to develop their gardening skills through free workshops and free seedling giveaways but for those looking to get involved without all the dirt, there are options: Store-bought produce donations, volunteering for your local food pantry, or monetary donations, go a long way to helping those who need it.

"Interfaith's food pantry garden is thriving but we need more help," said Rick Doane, executive director of ISS. "We hope that everyone will take a portion of their harvest and donate it to a local food pantry to help their neighbors in need."

"We hope that as people see good deals on any type of produce at the supermarket they will buy an extra couple bags and donate them to our food pantry so that hungry families and children will have healthful and nutritious food to eat," Doane said.

Donations of fresh produce from your garden or supermarket for the WFP are accepted at all three Pop Up Pantry locations or at their warehouse:

- Tuesdays, 10 to 11 a.m. at The First Church at 17 Church St., Weymouth
- Thursdays, 10 to 11 a.m. at Crossroads Worship Center, 241 Broad St., Weymouth

- Saturdays, 10 to 11 a.m. at Old South Union Church at 25 Columbian St., S. Weymouth

- Tuesday to Friday, 9 a.m. to noon at WFP Warehouse, 40B Reservoir Park Dr., Rockland

Monetary donations can be made through the ISS website www.interfaithsocialservices.org/donate/ and WFP website. www.veymouthfoodpantry.org/donation-page. Volunteer opportunities can also be found on the food pantries' respective websites.

For questions or to donate to the program, please contact: Rick Doane, Executive Director of ISS, (617) 773-6203; Joe Reardon, Vice President for Community Development and Advance Planning at Keohane Funeral Home, (617) 773-3551; or Pam Denholm, Executive Director of WFP, (781) 635-7783.

Downtown Construction Activities

Proposed work activities for the week of September 22nd, 2019

- Starting Monday, September 23rd, the exterior façade panels for the Chestnut Place building will start to be installed on the north and east sides of the building for the first four floors. Once the four floors are installed the crane operation will shift to the south and west sides of the building for four floors then alternate back and forth until all panels are installed. The remaining floors to be constructed are expected to be placed and completed by the end of October.

- Due to underground obstructions, Cottage Avenue will be closed again this upcoming week from 7am to 4pm so that the contractor can complete the installation of the last two catch basins on the lower half of Cottage Avenue. The drainage tie-in work was completed.

- Early morning concrete placements continue on the Chestnut Place building with deliveries entering at Dennis Ryan Parkway and Cottage Avenue. The contractor is currently working on the 12th floor of the Chestnut Place building.

- Work continues on the new City atrium and installation of underground utilities within the new civic plaza area and around the garage.

NQHS Senior Jessica Liu Earns Her Wings

Liu said she was nervous the first time behind the controls; she had only been in an airplane once before departing for Florida this summer.

"My first flight, I was so scared, because before going to Florida, I had only ever been on a plane once and that was when I was 2 and I didn't really remember the experience," Liu said.

"The Air Force actually flew me out to Florida for free. That was also an experience; I was kind of nervous. When I actually started flying the plane, we would dip down the smallest amount and I would freak out, because I was just not used to it and since it's such a small plane you feel every movement. It was very scary, but you get used to it, and it gets less scary - more normal - which is kind of weird because you're flying a plane."

Liu decided to apply for the program last school year after learning about it from Major Gregg Jones, North's Air Force Junior ROTC instructor. Before applying for the program, she had also contemplated doing a medical internship over the summer.

"My JRROTC teacher kind of introduced the program to whole corps and he asked if anyone was interested. I was interested in this, but I also wanted to do a medical internship over the summer, so I applied for this and I was going to apply for a medical internship later on, but then in February it came out that I was the only one in my school that got it," Liu explained.

"I was like it's such an honor and I really wanted to go, because it sounded like such a great experience."

Prior to this summer, Liu said she wanted to become a doctor, but her experience in the skies above Florida could change that.

"I actually wanted to become a dermatologist or something like that, but now a pilot is definitely an option," she said. "I'm still trying to figure out a way to manage both but haven't really come to the conclusion yet. We'll see what happens."

Liu joined the Junior ROTC program at North her freshman year. Liu decided to join the program because her brother, Alex, who graduated from North in 2017, was in the program, and she soon became more and more involved in it.

"I initially started because my brother was in it and I didn't really have an elective," Liu said. "Going into ROTC, you can choose either of two pathways. You can be really involved, or you can just be in the program. I was really interested in it."

"We have drill teams. We have extracurriculars. I really surrounded myself with everyone in the corps and I started drilling one hour before school, one hour after school. I applied for these scholarships. Every day was filled with ROTC events. We had community service and tutoring. I did everything, because it was just a lot of fun and made me more confident and made me feel like I had a better impact on my school and the community."

Liu is also the president of the National Honor Society at North Quincy High School, competes on the school's academic decathlon team, and is a member of the Kitty Hawk Air Society, the national AFJROTC academic honor society. She also volunteers for Quincy Asian Resources, Inc., and takes dance and piano lessons.

"I like to surround myself with work and hobbies," Liu said.

Liu hopes to inspire others to follow in her footsteps and apply for programs like the one she took part in, even if they might not expect to get in.

"I hope it inspires others to try to go for big scholarships like this, because I really did not expect to get it, because a lot of people that applied for the scholarship that I met through the program had pilot hours already and I had zero. I didn't know anything about a plane," she said.

Liu said her younger brother, Andy, a junior at North, has expressed interest in taking part in the same flight academy program next summer.

Quincy Access Television Open House Oct. 5

Quincy Access Television will hold its Annual Open House on Saturday, Oct. 5 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at their studios at 88 Washington St., attached to the Thomas Crane Main Library.

There will be music from Sam Gentile and his band Basic Black outside, as well as the Steve Macdonald Trio in studio. A popular QATV show "All Friends Cabaret" with Krystyne Cheever will be produced live in studio for participants to experience.

Representatives from Wreaths Across America, a non-profit organization that lays remembrance wreaths on the graves of veterans throughout the United States, will have a table at the open house to answer questions, register volunteers and accept volunteer forms. Last year, more than 3,200 wreaths were placed at Mount Wollaston Cemetery to honor the service of every veteran who rests there. This year, the program has expanded to honor every veteran at every city cemetery.

For those who become members of Quincy Access TV at the open house, membership will be free and they will automatically be entered into a contest for an Apple Watch; the winner will be drawn that day.

For more information, call Quincy Access Television at 617-376-1440.

Craft Fair Oct. 5 At Pagnano Towers

A craft fair will be held at Pagnano Towers, 109 Curtis Ave., Quincy, on Saturday, Oct. 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The fair will feature more than 20 vendors, bake sale, raffles and a snack shop.

All proceeds will benefit the Tenants Thanksgiving

Dinner.

HiSet/GED Prep Class At Quincy College Plymouth Campus

Quincy College and United Way of Greater Plymouth have collaborated to support the needs of students looking to prepare for their HiSET/GED exams, and is offering a FREE 15-week program to help students in Plymouth and surrounding areas to prepare for their exams.

This program is funded through a United Way of Greater Plymouth grant.

"This partnership began in 2018 and continues into the 2019-2020 Academic Year with the new High School Equivalency Preparation program, (HiSET/GED) offered at no cost, to students that don't have a high school diploma. This program, is an excellent opportunity for students they are seeking to further their education," said Kate Lopci, Associate Vice President for Workforce Development & Community Engagement.

The 15-week program is projected to start on Monday, Sept. 30 and will provide academic preparation on all five subject areas, included in the HiSET/GED exams. Classes will be held Monday and Wednesdays at the Quincy College, Plymouth Campus, 36 Cordage Park Circle in Plymouth. The Monday classes will run from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. and cover English Language Arts, social studies, and writing. The Wednesday classes also held from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. will cover science and mathematics topics.

Upon program completion and after passing the HiSet/GED exams, students are eligible to apply for a scholarship towards their education at Quincy College.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

An upcoming trip could create some problems with your schedule unless you tie up as many loose ends as possible before you head out the door. Ask a friend or colleague to help you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Being eager to start a new project is fine. However, moving ahead without knowing what actually will be expected of you could cause a problem down the line. Ask some questions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Getting through some recent challenges in good shape might give you a false sense of security. Don't relax your guard. You need to be prepared for what else could happen.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Caution is still advised, even though you think you're as prepared as you need to be. Keep in mind that change is in your aspect, and you should expect the unexpected.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) The Lion's gift of persuasion helps you get your points across, even to some of your most negative naysayers. An old friend might seek you out for some advice.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Being sure of your convictions is fine. But leave some room for dissenting opinions. You might learn something that could help you avoid a possible problem later on.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Getting good legal advice on what your rights actually are is the first step toward resolving that pesky problem so that it doesn't re-emerge at a later date. Good luck.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Longtime relationships work well this week, whether they're personal or professional. It's a good time to invite new friends and colleagues into your life.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) This is a good week to do the research that will help you uncover those irrefutable facts that can back you up on your new venture when you most need it.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Change is an important factor in your aspect this week and could affect something you might have thought was immune to any sort of adjustment or "alteration."

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Being asked to share someone's deeply personal confidence might be flattering, but accepting could be unwise. Decline gracefully but firmly.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) As wise as you are, you could still be misled by someone who seems to be sincere but might not be. Take more time to assess the situation before making any commitments.

BORN THIS WEEK: You like to face challenges that others might try to avoid, and by so doing, you set an example of courage for all.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD -- Summer is over, and now it's the season of the sequels. Currently on big screens are "It: Chapter Two," with James McAvoy, Jessica Chastain, Bill Hader and "It" himself, Bill Skarsgard; and "Rambo: Last Blood," with Rambo himself, Sylvester Stallone. Oct. 18 brings "Zombieland: Double Tap," with Woody Harrelson, Emma Stone, Bill Murray, Abigail Breslin and Jesse Eisenberg, and "Maleficent: Mistress of Evil," with Angelina Jolie, Elle Fanning and Chiwetel Ejiofor. "Terminator: Dark Fate," with Arnold Schwarzenegger and Linda Hamilton returning to the franchise, drops Nov. 1, and Nov. 8 brings "Doctor Sleep," the sequel to the 1980 Jack Nicholson classic "The Shining," with Ewan McGregor (as Danny Torrance) and Rebecca Ferguson. Waiting in the wings are: "Top Gun: Maverick" (June 26), "Coming to America 2," with Eddie Murphy, Arsenio Hall, John Amos and James Earl Jones (December 2020) and another "Tomb Raider," with Alicia Vikander (March 2021). Then there's "The Accountant 2" (Ben Affleck may return), "Gladiator 2," "The Craft 2," "The Labyrinth 2" (the Jim Henson fantasy starred David Bowie and Jennifer Connelly), "The Passion of the Christ: Resurrection" (the Mel Gibson top-grossing R-rated film of all time), "The Rocketeer 2," "The Edge of Tomorrow 2," with Tom Cruise and Emily Blunt returning, "Master and Commander 2," again with Russell Crowe, "9 to 5: Part 2," with new ladies (although Jane Fonda, Dolly Parton and Lily Tomlin say they're intending to be in it), "Call Me by Your Name 2" and "RoboCop Returns," to name just some. Whew!

Aaron Paul returns in "El Camino: A Breaking Bad Movie," due to release Oct. 11 on Netflix, with plans to air on AMC at a later date. Also, Amazon is creating a TV series from "The Lord of the Rings" franchise starring Will Poulter ("Maze Runner," "The Revenant.") All this brings new meaning to "everything old is new again" and the French phrase deja vu!

Billy Crystal has written and will direct a romantic comedy in which he's in a September/May relationship with Tiffany Haddish in "Here Today." We first saw Haddish in the TV series "The Carmichael Show" (2015-2017) before she broke out into film in "Girl Trip." Haddish can now be seen in "The Kitchen" and has "Like a Boss," with Rose Byrne and Salma Hayek, coming in June. Oscar-winning director Guillermo del Toro (for "The Shape of Water") will direct Bradley Cooper, Cate Blanchett and Rooney Mara in the remake of the 1947 Tyrone Power noir film "Nightmare Alley." Good luck to Richard Linklater, who filmed "Boyhood" over 13 years and is now shooting the Stephen Sondheim/George Furth musical "Merrily We Roll Along" over the next 20 years. He's 59 now and will be 79 when it's done ... we should all live so long!

KOVELS' Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Roman Brazier --- During the late 18th century, the very rich made a long trip to Europe to admire the architecture and art of Europe, including the ruins of past civilizations. The town of Pompeii was a major attraction. It had been covered with ash and lava in 78 A.D. and forgotten until 1748, when it blocked some construction. Historians have been studying the remains, and the art and culture, since then. The city was a summer home for wealthy Romans, and the eruption covered and saved the furnishings under the rock. Information about furniture and paintings inspired copies in the 18th century.

A brazier that was used to heat a Roman bath in the city and a similar one in a brothel were copied and sold in the late 1800s. The popular bronze brazier had a pieced rim and a three-part foot with men with paw feet holding the fire pit on their heads. These copies were made with a green patina. One sold at a Cakebread auction in New Orleans for $500. It is 10 inches high and almost 6 inches in diameter.

Q: I have heard that some antiques and vintage items are dangerous to own. Is this true? I am afraid to use my orange Fiesta dishes because friends say they were made with uranium and are radioactive.

A: Yes, some antique medicines, cosmetics and other objects can be dangerous or even fatal. Most vintage or antique things you buy at shops or shows have been cleaned or checked for dangerous things. Some are mercury (barometers), flammable materials (stove polish that explodes when heated), arsenic (cleanser for complexion), opium (medicine to relieve pain), morphine (to sooth teething babies), alcohol (a high percentage in bitters, medicines, etc.) and, of course, anything in a bumpy poison bottle or a bottle labeled poison.

Uranium was used in the clay or glaze of some items before the strict food and drug laws were passed in the U.S., but some countries still use glazes that are not safe. Your orange dishes are safe to use. If you find forgotten drug-store stock, clean it carefully in a well-ventilated area. Empty all medicine bottles; children may try to drink something.

CURRENT PRICES

Rocker, shaker, shawl, woven tape seat, mushroom caps, No. 7, 40 x 31 x 26 inches, $105.

Hermes scarf, silk, jacquard, horse, circles, multi-color, black, Michel-Duchene, 1987, 35 x 35 inches, $375.

Brass, tray, inlay, scrolls, central medallion, Maitland Smith, 31 inches, $410.

TIP: To date an antique chair, look under the seat frame. Eighteenth-century chairs were braced with a thin piece of wood across the front corners of the set. Later chairs were braced with a solid block of wood screwed into each corner.

Strange BUT TRUE

* It was noted 20th-century author of speculative fiction Harlan Ellison -- whose writing credits include episodes of the original "Star Trek" series -- who made the following sage observation: "The two most common elements in the universe are hydrogen and stupidity."

* After his death in 2005, the ashes of Hunter S. Thompson -- pioneer of "gonzo" journalism and author of the infamous novel "Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas" -- were fired spaceward from a giant cannon to the accompaniment of fireworks and the Bob Dylan song "Mr. Tambourine Man."

* Wasps, evidently, don't have any time to waste. Those who study such things say that they take less than a minute to complete their courtship and mating rituals.

* All species of dog have a pink tongue -- except one. Chows' tongues are black.

* The automatic dishwasher was invented way back in 1886. A woman named Josephine Cochrane came up with the idea because she was unhappy with the way her fine china was being chipped by the servants who were washing it.

* According to a recent Zinus study on sleep anxiety in America, women are more likely than men to dream about being chased and having teeth fall out. Men, though, dream more often about being naked in public and flying.

* If you're thinking of re-decorating your child's room, you might want to keep this in mind: Studies show that the color pink has a soothing effect on children, blue lowers their blood pressure and increases attentiveness, and yellow excites and cheers kids. Avoid red if at all possible; it has been shown to raise children's blood pressure, respiration and heart rate as well as brain and muscle activity.

Thought for the Day: "Unfortunately, computers are also stupid. Unlike human beings, computers possess the truly profound stupidity of the inanimate." -- Bruce Sterling

Now here's a tip!

by Jo Ann Derson

* "Need brown sugar for a recipe and suddenly realize you're out? Save a trip to the grocery store by adding molasses to white sugar. No molasses? Use maple syrup in a pinch." -- W.S. in Florida

* Keep it clean in the laundry room with this quick cleanup tip: When you do a load of towels or rags, use one of them to wipe down the washer and dryer -- including a quick scrub of the lint trap -- before tossing the rag in the wash.

* "The last time I went through my plastic containers to remove the ones without lids and the lids that have no container, I thought 'How does this even happen?' So, when I got ready to put the 'keep' pile back, I decided that I would store them with their lids attached. It has worked well.

Even though it takes up a little more space, they are all there, and no lid or container has gone missing." -- M.M. in Ohio

* To keep hard floors in good shape, get a microfiber mop that is strictly for dust mopping. Treat it with an appropriate floor-care agent, and make sure that you toss the mop head in the wash regularly. Never use fabric softener when washing or drying microfiber cleaning cloths.

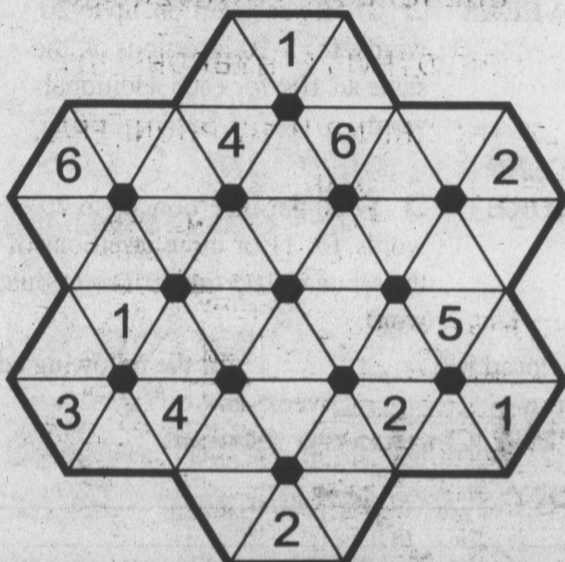

* Store an extra set of sheets and an additional blanket under the bed in a laundry basket for easy accessibility. * When making a cream pie filling or a custard, you may substitute two egg yolks for each egg.
